SPECTRE OF ANARCHY IN GERMANY FEARED SEE MAY DAY RIOTS

Outbreak, Brewing for Some Time May Come to Head In Anti-French Demonstration May 1—Signs of German Disintegration.

Violent May Day disorders are feared in Germany tomorrow. In the Ruhr the German workers are planning to make an anti-French demonstration. In Bavaria both the Fascisti and Communists are planning parades in defiance of a government warning and a clash is feared.

The spectre of anarchy is casting ever darker shadows over Germany, while the danger of civil war has grown tremendously since the Ruhr was occupied by France. The German Ruhr front is still solid—passive resistance continues, but under the surface storms are brewing. An explosion may come tomorrow or it may hold off until the impending exchange of notes between Germany and the allies comes to a head.

So serious are the symptoms of disintegration that many warning voices are making a last attempt to make themselves heard in such quarters abroad as may render eleventh hour assistance to Germany. Most of these voices are sounded secretly. Among them are the voices of Catholic Church leaders in Germany who visualize a tide of bolshevism rolling westward and making Central Europe the first bloody battleground in the supreme struggle for supremacy of the continent.

The fears of the Catholic churchmen have been intensified by the fact that the Orthodox church in conference at Moscow has adopted a resolution supporting the soviets and approving the maintenance of a big red army.

International News Service is able to reveal that Cardinal Schulte, archbishop of Cologne, went to Rome primarily to tell Pope XI of the red menace hanging over Germany. In an exclusive interview with International News Service just before his departure, Cardinal Schulte voiced his fears as follows:

"I have been an optimist for many years—even throughout the war. But I have lost hope. I have become a pessimist. I can foresee the blackest days ahead."

International News Service has reason to believe that Cardinal Paulhaber of Munich, who is now in the United States, shares the same view. This prelate may express them to President Harding.

The position of Alanson B. Houghton, American ambassador to Germany, is too delicate to allow him to express his views, but it is understood he will advise President Harding and Secretary of State Hughes that serious internal dangers face Germany which may be summarized as "after Cuna, chaos."

When International News Service obtained its exclusive statement from Cardinal Schulte on April 12, it could not be printed because the prelate feared it might prejudice the independent investigation of Ruhr conditions which Monsignor Testa was making for Pope Pius XI. But Monsignor Testa has completed his task and today the Cardinal's views can be set forth.

"The red tide is rolling forward slowly but relentlessly," said this eminent cleric as he sat in his studio at Cologne. "I see terrible days ahead."

"The event of the past few years—especially of this year—have poured fuel upon the flames—there has been a terrible lot of explosive material. We are, in fact, sitting upon a powder barrel."

"The German masses are worn out by war and a farcical peace which has proved worse than war. France is supplying the most powerful argument for the communists. She is practicing in the Rhineland and Ruhr exactly what the communists have been preaching for years. She is undermining the principle of the sanctity of property rights. The French are ruthlessly seizing private property. Incidentally they are catering to the Reds. Indeed the French in Germany are placing the same class of people whom they would mow down with machine guns in the streets of Paris. This policy will have a terrible vengeance upon France. She will not be spared from the spread of horror she is deliberately unleashing upon Germany. They will roll westward."

NO SPECIFIC CHARGE AGAINST CULT LEADER

Michigan Attorney General Declares Authorities Have No Warrant for Purnell Who is Thought To Be Under Arrest.

Marysville, O., April 30.—Pending arrival this afternoon of Michigan officials, a man, suspected of being "King" Benjamin Purnell, head of the House of David religious cult colony, Benton Harbor, Michigan, is being held in the county jail here.

The prisoner, who refuses to talk or say who he is, tallies closely to the description of "King" Benjamin, local officials declared. He is five feet six inches tall, weighs about 163 pounds, has a long beard and appears to be very intelligent. He came here about two months ago in an auto bearing a Kentucky license and has been making a living by sharpening razors, scissors and knives. He had been sleeping at night in his machine which was parked alongside the state armory here. He is of a very quiet disposition and has made very few acquaintances here.

Promptly upon his arrest here Sunday, Grand Rapids, Michigan authorities were notified. The prisoner refused to give his name. When asked whether he is Purnell he replied that he is "just a man" and that he is "not the man the authorities want," although admitting that he had been a member of the House of David Colony.

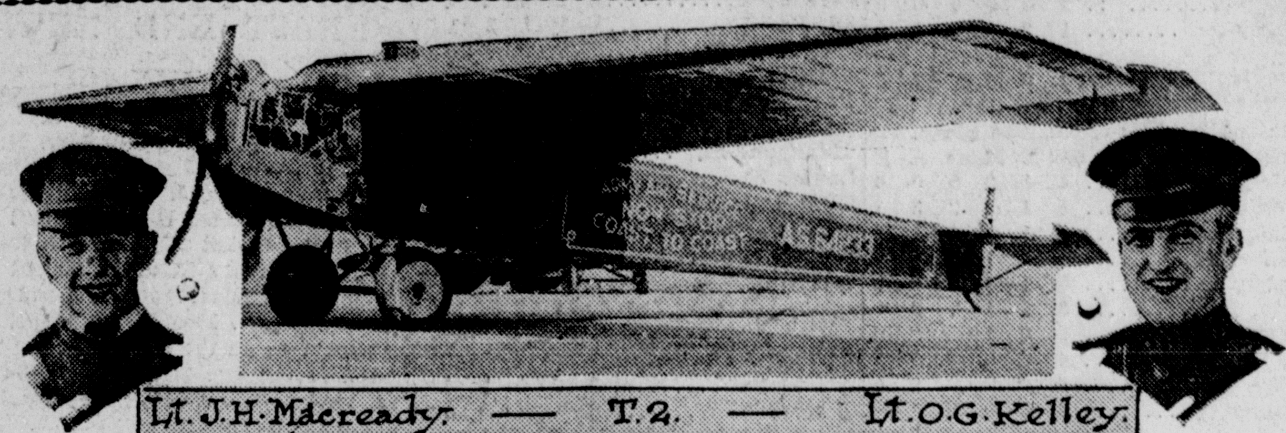

ARREST TWO IN ALLEGED SWINDLE

Cincinnati, O., April 30.—A $20,000 swindle, based on the ancient "first past the post" system is alleged by police here to have been worked in a Detroit pool room on Samuel Deckelbaum, 1105 Hopkins street, Cleveland, wealthy clothing manufacturer.

The case came to light last night after two weeks of inquiry, which ended in the arrest of two men in the Gilbert apartments, 2123 Gilbert Ave., Walnut Hills. The two were registered as Frank Paulson, alias Paul, 44 years old and William Woodward, 60.

Both denied the charge, although Deckelbaum insisted that Paulson was one of the pair who swindled him in Detroit. They are held on suspicion. Paulson admitted, according to police, that he had served a term in a New York City prison for swindling. The case is the second of the kind here in recent weeks, March 19. William B. Jones, Westmoreland county, Pa., was trimmed for $50,000 through use of drugged liquor at a conference regarding a whiskey deal.

STORM TAKES TOLL OFF NEW ENGLAND

Boston, Mass., April 30.—A storm which for fifteen hours ravaged the New England coast took a toll of nine lives and wrecked at least seven vessels, it was apparent today.

Seven members of the crew of the Boston steam collier Seacomet were lost when that vessel foundered a mile from the Vineyard Sound light ship. Twenty-two other persons aboard, including the wife of the wireless operator, reached the lightship in lifeboats.

The negro cook of the rum laden British steam yacht, Thelma Phoebe lost his life when he became panic stricken and leaped overboard with a mattress as the vessel struck on Fisher's Island, Vineyard Sound.

The other members of the crew were taken off by the coast guard. The vessel is rapidly going to pieces and considerable of her wet cargo is being carried ashore by the sea.

Captain George Gardner, of the coal barge Braddock, went down with that vessel when she went on the rocks at Point Judith. Other members of the crew were rescued.

The other vessels wrecked were the schooner Francis Goodnow, of Boston, wrecked on McKenny's Point, Cape Elizabeth, Maine, the coal barge Ephart of Philadelphia, wrecked off Popham Beach, Me., the coal barge of Fall River, wrecked at Point Judith, and the coal barge Canton also of Fall

OHIO LEGISLATURE ACCEPTS THE BRYAN TRACT OVER VETO

Action of the State Legislature Saturday in accepting the John Bryan farm bequest for the state, over the veto of Governor A. V. Donahey, ends a controversy that has involved the Legislature, and three Governors.

Both branches of the Legislature voted to overrule the veto and accept the tract of 500-acres, which was bequeathed to the state as a state game preserve and forestry Saturday night. The vote of the House of Representatives was 93 for and 27 against passage of the bill and the vote of the Senate was 28 for and two against.

The farm was left to the state under the provisions of the will of John Bryan, eccentric millionaire, who made his home on the farm. The clause in the will prescribed that the property should be used as a game preserve, and forestry tract under the condition that no religious services ever be held on the property. Because of that peculiar provision of the will, Governor Cox and Davis turned the bequest down.

Members of the Greene County Fish and Game Protective Association, headed by L. F. Clevenger, former president and supplemented by various Clark County organizations and interested individuals have been making a campaign to have the property accepted. When their efforts to have Governor Davis accept the property failed, the State Legislature took the proposition and agreed to accept the bequest. Governor Donahey vetoed the measure, but action of the Legislature in passing it over his veto brings the controversy to an end.

The will provided that should the tract be turned down by the State that it should accrue to Greene County and County Commissioners considered acceptance or refusal of the bequest for some time, before it was finally acted upon by the State. It is expected that the State will use the tillable part of the 500-acre tract as an agricultural experimental station similar to the station at Wooster.

The glens and heavily wooded section are adaptable for the purpose to which it will be put according to the provisions of the will. It is expected that the State Fish and Game Department will not only establish a game preserve on the land but will also construct a fish hatchery there.

The state controlled operations are expected to make the Bryan farm a mecca of Ohio sportsmen as well as a center of agricultural experimental work in this section of the state. The grounds will be open to the public as long as no religious service is held there.

GOVERNMENT SEEKS TO DISSOLVE TRUST

Washington, April 30.—The government today began legal action to dissolve the alleged lumber trust.

A suit in equity against the Western Pine Manufacturers' Association, was filed on behalf of the government in the United States district court at St. Paul. Approximately 60 corporations and 86 individuals, officers in numerous lumber concerns were named as defendants.

MINERS ARE IDLE AS RESULT OF ORDER

Pittston, Pa., April 30.—More than 10,000 anthracite mine workers in this vicinity are idle today as a result of an order of the general grievance committee of the Pennsylvania and Hillside Coal Company.

The action is caused by failure of the subcommittee from the general grievance committee to adjust the Butler Colliery, in effect one week. Fourteen collieries are affected by this order and are shut down today.

One of the prime reasons for the strike is that thirty five employees at the Butler colliery refused to pay back dues in the union.

Controversy Within Republican Party Settles Down to Stage of "Watchful Waiting" By Both Sides In the Dispute

Washington, April 30.—The controversy within the Republican party over the international court issue, apparently settled down today to a stage of "watchful waiting" by both sides.

DAUGHERTY DRY SEAS RULING IS UPHELD BY COURT

Washington, April 30.—The right of the United States Government to compel both American and foreign owned ships to be "bone dry" within American waters was upheld today by the United States Supreme Court in a sweeping decision which clarifies many of the complexities of the national prohibition laws. At the same time, however, the highest court ruled that the government has not the power to extend the Volstead law either to American or foreign ships when those ships are outside American territorial waters.

The famous Daugherty opinion, extending the Volstead law to all American ships wherever they may be, was thus partially upheld and partially thrown down.

The court held that American ships could be forced by the prohibition law to go dry in American waters, but the law did not force such ships to go dry in waters over which the United States has no jurisdiction.

PLANES IN FLIGHT ACROSS U. S. LAND IN WASHINGTON

Washington, April 30.—Three of the four big Martin bombing planes, which left San Diego, California, last Thursday for an experimental flight across the continent, landed at Bolling Field near here at 11:04 o'clock this morning.

The planes were piloted by marine aviators, and they were greeted by Secretary of the Navy Denby, Major General John A. Lejeune, commandant of the Marine Corps, and other naval officials, including representatives of the Japanese embassy.

TEN MILLION DOLLAR PLOT ALLEGED BY DRY AGENTS IN CLEVELAND

Six Railroad Employees Under Arrest—Scores of Others Expected To Be Caught In the Net of the Law.

Cleveland, April 30.—With six railroad employees under arrest here and in Columbus today, and arrests of scores of others expected shortly, federal and state prohibition agents claimed to have in their hands almost complete details of $10,000,000 rum running conspiracy to bring imported Scotch and other whiskeys into Ohio.

Deputy Prohibition Commissioner Frank S. Evans, who arrived in Columbus yesterday to take charge of the investigation, said that possibly 100 persons would be linked up in the conspiracy.

First news of the plot came with the seizure here of 524 quarts of imported Scotch whiskey late Saturday afternoon, as it was being unloaded from a "Florida special" at the East 55th street Pennsylvania station. The booze was contained in sixteen unmarked suitcases. A second seizure of 446 quarts was made in Columbus early yesterday morning. At the same time, two train porters, Richard Suter and Luther Boddie, were arrested.

Ernest Downey, station master; George Reed, baggage master; James Hines and Harry Burns, porters, were under arrest here while warrants had been issued for the apprehension of a brakeman and conductor on a Pennsylvania train.

Sea of Booze According to Evans a sea of booze estimated at 50,000 quarts daily has been coming into Ohio from Havana. He said he believed the total would reach a million quarts, value at $10 a quart.

Possible confiscation of railroad rolling stock used in transporting the liquor was under consideration but definite action today had not been determined in this particular. Railroad officials were co-operating with federal and state officials in running down those guilty.

Cincinnati, April 30.—Activities of prohibition enforcement agents against alleged liquor smugglers among railroad employees entering Ohio in through sleeping cars from Florida resorts have been extended to Cincinnati following arrests in Cleveland.

"The Southland," arriving late last night on the Louisville and Nashville railroad, was delayed on the line's Ohio river bridge, while state agents searched the train. No liquor was found.

WAR THREATENS BETWEEN TURKS AND THE FRENCH

Hostilities Along Syrian Frontier May Break Out Shortly.

Paris, April 30.—Hostilities between the Turks and French were threatened today along the Syrian frontier. Both sides are concentrating troops in that zone.

Following a conference among General Pelle, French high commissioner at Constantinople, and head of the French delegation in the Near East peace conference at Lausanne; General Wayland, chief of staff to Marshall Foch, President Millerand of France, and Premier Poincare, announcement was made that the government decided to send two additional colonies divisions to Syria.

There are already 26,000 French troops in Syria.

General Pelle reported he had received advices from Beirut that the Turks were massing troops along the Syrian border and that the attitude of Turkey was most threatening.

General Wayland, who was recently appointed French high commissioner to Syria will leave Friday evening on the cruiser Lorraine to take up his new duties.

Turkey demanded that the French evacuate Syria. The French refused, maintaining they were entitled by their league of nations mandate to hold and administer the region. It is understood the differences over Syria was one of the reasons that Ankara gave rich concessions to the American Chester group of exploiters.

URGE REFERENDUM ON TAFT TAX LAW

Columbus, April 30.—John F. McCrehan, Columbus, president of the Ohio State Board of Real Estate Men has announced that he will call a meeting of the board to consider the advisability of a referendum on the Taft tax law, passed over Governor Donahey's veto by the Legislature.

If the board decided to put the question up to the people, circulation of petitions will be started at once, McCrehan said. If no referendum is held the law will go into effect in 90 days. If a referendum is held, it cannot become a law until after the next election and then only in the event it receive a majority of the votes cast in the state.

LOST CHILDREN ARE LOCATED NEAR HOME

Cincinnati, O., April 30.—A search that was aided by police of Covington and Newport, Ky., and Cincinnati was ended yesterday when Joseph Schneider, 12 years old, and his sister Anna Marie, eight, were found near their home, 385 West Fifth street, Newport, where they had been missing since Friday noon. The children had been hiding in an unfinished house without food or water for forty hours because they were afraid to go home after playing truant. They appeared to have suffered little from their adventure.

AIRPLANE IS NOT SECURE FROM FIRE FROM THE GROUND

Washington, April 30.—Startling statements of the progress and deficiencies in warfare were revealed here in a review of the maneuvers of 1922, made public by the war department.

Among the most important is that the airplane is no longer secure from attack from the ground. A system of conducting anti-aircraft artillery fire with accuracy has been developed. This was worked out by having airplanes tow targets as they hurtled through space at 100 miles an hour. The targets were fired upon with a barrage and a satisfactory number of hits scored, without in any way endangering the pilot or his plane. The same experiment revealed the fact that airplanes can not now set up an effective smoke screen, except in favorable weather conditions.

In the joint operation of planes with coast artillery, it was learned that communication from plane to shore for the purpose of "spotting" for the shore guns is uncertain. If the visibility is fair and two-way radio communication between the batteries and planes can be maintained hostile ships may be hit with ease. However, if more than six planes are engaged in the spotting, employing more than six radio stations on shore the interference is excessive.

THREE HIGHEST GRADES.

Columbus, April 30.—John T. Hogsett of New London received highest grade in the recent examination for agriculturist, according to an announcement made by the state civil service commission. Clarence H. Ochs of Lancaster was second and Charles D. Brown of Plain City third.

PURCHASE XENIA SEMINARY-TO GIVE IT AS MEMORIAL

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Steele have recently purchased the property of the Xenia Theological Seminary on West Third Street. It is their purpose to present this property to The Hooven and Allison Company as a permanent memorial to their son, the late John D. Steele, Jr., to be used in welfare work of the Company, along lines, the exact nature of which has not yet been fully determined.

Announcement of the purchase was made Monday and the presentation will be made to the board of directors of the company either this week or next. The property is destined for use by the welfare department of the company. In memory of the young official of the firm whose death occurred last year.

Mr. Steele, Jr., was vice president and assistant general manager of the Hooven and Allison Company at the time of his death. During his official connection with the company, he was particularly interested in the welfare of employees, and was instrumental in bringing about many factory reforms and welfare institutions that are now functioning.

Although definite plans for the use of the seminary buildings, and the considerable real estate that goes with them, has not been announced, it is expected that the memory of the departed official will be perpetuated in lasting use of the property to carry out many of the welfare movements he had hoped to bring about. These plans will probably not be outlined until formal presentation of the property by Mr. and Mrs. Steele to the directors of the company.

The buildings were abandoned for their original use when the Xenia Theological Seminary moved to St. Louis, Mo., several years ago. The property includes real estate extending from Third Street to the Shawnee creek in the rear and from King Street almost to the West Street intersection. Two buildings face Third Street. One was used as a chapel and school room and is of practically modern construction, not having been in use long before the Seminary was moved. The older building is a large, brick structure, used as a dormitory by Seminary students.

Since the removal of the Seminary the property has been for sale, and several uses for it were advanced during the last several years, including its possible use for Xenia City or Xenia Township school purposes. None of these plans carried and, with the exception of the occupancy of apartments in the dormitory building by families, the buildings were unoccupied at the time of the sale to Mr. and Mrs. Steele.

Announcement of the purchase of the property and the plans of Mr. and Mrs. Steele for perpetuating the memory of their son with the company with which he was so prominently identified, were made Saturday to executives of the company here, and the formal presentation will take place later.

ANTIOCH DEFEATS WITTENBERG NINE BAYLIFFS SHUTOUT BY ATHLETICS IN SEASON'S OPENER FAIRBORN INDIANS WIN OPENER

BAYLIFFS DROP OPENER

By WONES

An absence of the proverbial pinch hit as well as the base hit, brought about downfall of the Xenia Bayliffs, at the Washington Street Park Sunday afternoon in the opening contest of the season the Springfield Athletics scoring a 8 to 0 victory at the expense of the local nine.

The locals must have disposed of all the hits they had in their game with the Dayton Athletics last Sunday, because they were lacking in attack against the Springfield bunch. The Reaper City crew hit at the right time and the hits they got were not wasted, generally bringing about the desired result.

Griffith started on the mound for the Bayliffs, but the visitors gave him such a warm reception that he retired in favor of McDonnell in the first part of the fourth. The Athletics easily solved the offerings of Griffith. In the first inning the Clark county lads scored five runs and drove out two doubles and four singles off of Griffith.

Cozier first man up singled over second base, Foley singled to left, Cozier going to second, Schank singled to right and Cozier scored while Foley went to third. Kinsler fanned and Snyder doubled down the third base line, Foley and Schank scoring. Ervin singled to center, Snyder scoring. Hauffman doubled to center and Ervin scored while "Stony" Fuller dropped ball after he had once picked it up Kauffman going to third on the error. Haley fanned and Bain got Kauffman soming home for the third out. In the second and third rounds Griffith got by very well but in the fourth inning the Athletics found him once more and knicked him for three hits and one run. McDonnell was then sent into the box and for the remainder of the game "Willie" pitched a nice brand of ball fanning four while he left the visitors down with five hits and two runs and did not issue a single base on balls.

Stillman who pitched for the Athletics twirled a fine game. This lad is a south-paw. The locals only got six hits off of him while he fanned seven. The Bayliffs had several good chances to score but they just could not make the best of their opportunities. In the sixth with the bases full and two out Randall popped to Foley for the third out, in the eighth with Bain on third and Tucker on second and two out Schwab hit an easy grounder to Stillings who threw Schwab out at the initial sack. In the ninth Stiles went in as a pinch hitter and did succeed in getting to second by Kauffman's wild peg to first. Starkey then batted for Bowyer but he could not solve the benders of the south-paw who sent Starkey to the bench.

The Athletics played airtight ball behind Stillings and only made two errors in the entire contest while the locals played fair ball in the field making three errors. One of them helping the visitors to score a run.

On next Sunday the Bayliffs will play Bowersville at the Washington Street Park.

The Athletics grabbed off a five run lead in the early innings, but by keeping plugging the Urbana outfit overcame this lead later and finished with one run to the good. Bruck, Urbana twirler, was hit hard in the early innings, but later settled down and after Day knocked a home run in the third he permitted only a single and a double in the last six innings.

Hodopp who pitched for the Athletics, started well, but the Urbana outfit began to connect with his offerings in the third and scored four runs in the fifth. Antioch Again Beats Wittenberg Antioch College baseball team again defeated Wittenberg Saturday. Coach Frug's outfit winning over the Lutherans at Yellow Springs by a 15 to 7 score.

Seven errors were costly to the Wittenberg aggregation, Hummon at first base against being particularly offensive in the matter of mistakes, with four to his credit. Antioch started off with a rush by hanging six runs in the initial stanza, and repeating for one each in the next two innings. The Yellow Springs team concluded its scoring with one more run in the fifth and six more in the eighth feign the contest.

Treleven pitched well for Antioch, letting down at times because of the lead his team mates had piled up for him.

MUSIC WINNERS COMPETE SATURDAY IN MEMORY TEST

As the result of a last-minute ruling of the contest judges, from the various parts of the state, only three from each of the two groups entered from Greene County in the State Music Memory Contest at Columbus Saturday, were allowed to enter the contest officially. The remainder of the pupils were entered unofficially and not eligible to prizes.

In the Xenia team, Martha Peters of Lincoln School continued longest in the race, having a perfect paper until the third test, when she missed one number.

In the Greene County elementary team, Gladys Jones of Xenia Township continued longest in the testing, carrying a perfect score in each of the eight tests, finally winning the prize of a choice of fifty dollar instrument for which a number of counties were contestants.

Forty-eight counties were represented in the contest, the first of its kind ever held in Ohio, Saturday afternoon at Columbus Memorial Hall. A number of retests had to be given before a decision could be reached as to the prize winners. In the first contest held, there were nearly 100 perfect papers resulting in a decision to hold further contests until eliminations were made.

First instructions came that the three highest from the city schools should represent the city, later that the three highest from one building should represent the city. Permission was later granted by the State department for Xenia to enter two teams of three, one from Lincoln and one from McKinley Building, as each had perfect scores at the county contest. Permission was granted at the Columbus contest, Saturday morning, also that a team of four, two from Spring Valley township and two from Xenia township should represent the Greene County elementary schools, since these two teams tied in the contest.

A feature of the entire state contest was the presence of little Miss Margaret Hill, four-year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Hill of New Burlington who astonished prominent musicians from over the state with her knowledge of the names of the compositions entered in the contest. She is also a proficient whistler.

Her entrance into the contest was outside of the school teams, and no prize was awarded for her ability.

Styles BY LENORE

One of the most effective suits shown this season is a compromise between a sports costume and a tailor. It is made of beige colored cloth in a new weave called Juina, which is as soft as a kitten's ear and resembles suede cloth. except that the nap is more wooly. The coat is slightly flared, and the narrow waist standing collar is divided into beige and green velvet, the ends extending the length of the coat, as indicated in the sketch. The same idea is used on the sleeves. Black, green and a suggestion of gilt embroidery accentuates the gracefully shaped pockets, and all the buttons, which are about one and a half inches in diameter, are made of the beige cloth, with centers of green and black and gold stitching.

Black silk poplin is used for the frock sketched on the smaller figure. Collar and cuffs are of orandie, bound with beige braid.

IS AWARDED HONOR

Isadore M. Hyman, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Hyman, of East Market Street, who is a junior in the college of commerce and journalism at Ohio State University, has been honored by selection to membership in Sigma Delta Chi, honorary professional journalistic fraternity.

PIONEER BAREFOOT BOY MAKE APPEARANCE HERE

Signs of Spring are just like all other signs—nobody ever believes them.

But when a small boy, doffs his shoes and stockings and saunters out in his bare feet for the first time, it is generally recognized that the robins and buds may be only fooling, but that spring has actually arrived.

The pioneer barefoot boy paddled his way along Detroit street in the rain Saturday morning. He said his feet were not cold, and that will probably be a signal for a universal shedding of shoes and stockings among small boys.

STOCK SUBSCRIPTION IN PROPOSED PRESS INDUSTRY RAISED

With the swinging of considerable financial assistance to the front at the last minute Saturday, what practically amounts to assurance that a company to manufacture an entirely new type of printing press will locate in Xenia was given, it was announced Monday by backers of the plan.

A campaign promoted by C. R. Hinkle, Dayton, formerly of this city, to sell $100,000 worth of stock in the new company in this city, came to an end Saturday evening when the 30-day option allowed Mr. Hinkle expired. At that time although the stock subscription amounted to $65,000 Xenia men interested in the project guaranteed enough other stock to make the entire amount subscription, it is said.

Signing of the agreement whereby stockholders of The Omnigraph Company, Des Moines, Iowa, present holders of the company turn over the concern to the Xenia interests, is the final step that will bring the factory to this city. E. E. Sullivan, inventor of the rotograph which has been manufactured by The Omnigraph Company, armed with the signatures of the local men, went to Des Moines immediately.

A meeting of the Iowa stockholders will be held Wednesday at which time it is expected by interested Xenians that, the articles will be signed, according to a previous agreement made by the interests there. Providing the Iowa interests to the arrangement, Xenia stockholders will immediately apply for incorporation papers under the laws of the State of Ohio, in the sum of $500,000 it is understood. The organization to be effected after the charter has been granted will include only Xenia and Greene stockholders with the exception of Mr. Strawn, who will be included as an officer and director of the new organization, Mr. Hinkle said Monday.

Property of the Miami Cereal Company, including factory buildings which formerly housed the Eavey Packing Company on Washington Street, has been included in the stock subscription and the transfer to the new company has already been made. It is the intention of the press manufacturing concern to occupy these buildings, using the main factory building for the actual manufacture and the other buildings for storage, part of which will be used for paper. The press prints from rolls of paper instead of from cut paper, and the company has to handle its own paper in order to supply users of the press.

THE LINCOLN HIGHWAY—UTAH SEEKS TO DISRUPT THE ROUTE.

The fate of the Lincoln Highway as a great transcontinental route linking New York with San Francisco is right now trembling in the balance. The vital question of whether or not the road shall be built west of Salt Lake City, Utah has at last reached the ultimate authority—the Secretary of Agriculture at Washington, who is empowered by Congress to correlate interstate highways.

The Lincoln Highway Association, with Headquarters here, which laid out the route in 1913, before the existence of a Federal authority and before there were State Highway Departments in most of the western states, has spent $950,000.00 in ten years in the promotion and development of the great transcontinental memorial highway. The road has become the most important and most heavily traveled interstate thoroughfare of its length in the union and has reached a high degree of improvement from New York City to Salt Lake City, a distance of 2,450 miles. The improvement of the road and its strategic location have brought to it such a tremendous traffic that it is becoming a highly important business factor in every community through which it leads.

Utah's objection to providing a proper western outlet is based on the obvious desire to make Salt Lake City the division point for that vast volume of through traffic headed for southern California, which if the Lincoln Highway is abandoned and allowed to become impassable in western Utah must necessarily turn south at Salt Lake City.

Until Secretary Wallace pronounces his decision in the matter the continuity of the Lincoln Way as a direct connection from Manhattan to the Golden Gate is threatened.

WOMAN SUFFRAGE AND POLITICS.

There is disclosed, in the clearing light restored as the smoke of the battle for equal suffrage in the United States thins and vanishes in the horizon, an interesting, entertaining and instructive chapter in human history. Upon its pages there has been written by pens sympathetically guided what is really an inspiring record of the success of the movement for equal suffrage in a land where a cardinal tenet of government is declared to be the recognition of full human equality. In the book, "Woman Suffrage and Politics," there has been arrayed, not spectacularly, but soberly and studiously, by those who ascribe to themselves neither special credit nor undue measure of accomplishment, the chronological record of the years during which brave and unselfish American women worked unceasingly and untiringly for the recognition, by their brothers, husbands and fathers, of their right to participate as equals in governing themselves.

The authors of the book, Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt and Mrs. Nettie Rogers Shuler, have long been prominently identified with the suffrage cause. They announce in the volume (just issued by Scribners) that their object is not to write a history of the campaign for woman suffrage waged by American women, but to discover, by processes which have proved to be more or less analytical, the causes which, during all the crises through which the movement passed from the days of its inception until final victory was achieved by the adoption and ratification of the Nineteenth Amendment to the Constitution, have impeded or delayed it. It is interesting to note that the authors have refrained from what ever desire they might have had to engage in controversial arguments in behalf of the cause which they represent, and have confined themselves almost entirely to a presentation of facts so patent that the answer they seek must be found by even the casual reader.

MINORITY RULE OF THE SUPREME COURT.

Naturally politicians out of harmony with the fundamentals of representative republican government as set forth in the American Constitution are hostile to the Supreme Court which stands between legislative and executive power and the rights of persons and property guaranteed in our charter of freedom. Power is always hungry for more power; as much so now and here as in other times and lands.

The great men who framed our Constitution threw about the individual citizen of the republic a circle of protection of personal and property rights which no Congress or President—not even a popular majority—could invade. The Supreme Court was set up to repel attempted invasions within that sphere. Politicians greedy for more power for themselves, or catering to popular prejudice against restraints upon bodies of voters seeking to work their own selfish purposes even in violation of the Constitution, are more or less consciously impatient with the Supreme Court.

This dislike of constitutional restraint finds especially free expression when the nation's highest judicial body declares unconstitutional an act of Congress. The recent decision by the Supreme Court that the District of Columbia's minimum wage law represents an unwarranted legislative assumption of authority has called forth protests ranging all the way from mild criticism to violent denunciation by people who have more anxiety to accomplish their immediate ends than to protect the foundations of our governmental structure.

It is complained that the Supreme Court occasionally decides a law unconstitutional by a majority of only one. There is no reason to believe that a minority of the court is wiser than the majority. If the foes of constitutional restraint upon Congress think they have reason to complain about majority decisions, what reason is there to believe that the believers in constitutional restraint would have more confidence in the findings of a minority? Minorities, despite the present drift toward minority control of government, are not necessarily more trust-worthy than majorities, and when it comes to enforcing the federal Constitution's fundamental guarantees, most Americans would prefer majority to minority interpretation.

BEFORE HAVING ANYBODY ARRESTED THEY'D BETTER CONSIDER THEIR OWN STANDING IN COURT

1903--Twenty Years Ago--1923

Wilberforce was visited today by one of the worst fires in the history of the institution, when property was swept away to the value of about ten thousand dollars, comprising eight cottages located on the west side of the campus. The origin of the fire is a mystery.

The Judicial convention, composed of delegates from Clinton, Greene, Montgomery and Warren counties, was held in this city today. Judge T. E. Scroggy was renominated for a second term upon the Common Pleas bench of this district.

Mr. John Bryan has purchased the property of the Methodist Home of the Aged at Yellow Springs and will more than likely erect a modern hotel on the site.

The sale of horses by W. B. Bryson yesterday was successful 26 horses being sold and the proceeds of the sale amounting to more than $5,000. The roadsters averaged a little more than $200 apiece.

FATTENING THE SHOULDERS

There are so many possible ways of fattening thin shoulders that it seems a shame that any woman should go about always Puritanically clothed up to her chin. It is nice to show pretty white shoulders now and then, especially of late years when the evening gowns have been so very low cut, and afternoon gowns have the "boat shaped" neck line that demands nicely shaped throat and shoulders.

Or, even if you live so simply that you never dress up beyond a tailored suit, it's still nice to know that the shoulders are attractive, whether they show or not.

Here are some hints: At night bathe the skin with very hot water until it is red and the pores are open. Warm a little cocoa butter (holding the cake of it near a candle or lamp will soften it sufand rinse with cold, by this time the skin will have absorbed sufficient fat.

You must not neglect deep breathing and arm exercises.

E. H. M.—The formula for the creams will be mailed to you if you send a stamped addressed envelope.

Irene—A lotion for bleaching freckles is made by mixing together six drachms of lemon juice, ten ounces of hot water, one ounce of glycerine and two drachms of borax. Dissolve the acid and borax in the water and add the glycerine.

A dainty cosmetic may be made of this lotion if an ounce of red rose petals is included; in which case they should be infused for an hour and then strained through a sheer cloth. The essence is then added to the lotion.

Blackheaded Pimples Quit With S. S. S.

Why? Pimple-Poison Goes When Red-Blood-Cells Increase S. S. S. Builds These Red-Blood-Cells.

You can be sure of this, nature has no substitute for red-blood-cells. Pimple-poison can't live in the red rivers of your blood as long as there are enough rich red-blood-cells in it. More red-blood-cells!

That is what you need when you see pimples starting at you in the mirror. Black-headed pimples are worse! Eczema is worse yet! You can try everything under the sun, you'll find only one answer, more cell-power in your blood! The tremendous results produced by an increase in red-blood-cells is one of the A. B. C.'s of medical science. Red-cells mean clear-pure rich blood. They mean clear, ruddy, lovable complexions. They mean nerve power, because all your nerves are fed by your blood. They mean freedom forever from pimples, from the blackhead pest, from boils, from eczema and skin eruptions, from rheumatism impurities, from tired, exhausted, run-down feeling. Nourishing cold cream improves thin shoulders sufficiently) and massage the shoulders with this. Work the thick cream well into the skin, using the four fingers of each hand with a rotary motion.

The only trouble with this treatment is that the thick grease will stain your underclothes. I suggest that you wear a muslin over the shoulders, just a piece of muslin with holes cut out for the neck and the arms, fastened under the arms and pinned in front with safety pins. This will cover the part that is saturated with oil and can be washed every few days by letting it soak in hot water and soap flakes. In the morning, when you take off the jacket, wash the skin with hot water

WOULD LIKE TO KNOW—The reason why the Chinese paint a huge eye on the front of their junks is to be found in an ancient superstition that the addition of the painted optic enables the ship to see its way and keep out of difficulty.

INTERESTED READER—One way to tell real diamonds from paste or glass ones, if your tongue is sensitive enough, is to know that the former feel much colder to the tongue than the other two.

KATE—The interpretation of the Hopi Indian's Snake Dance is that they believe they fill the serpents with prayers for rain, then release them to carry the message to the gods below the earth.

SHERMAN—The Longest reign on record is that of Louis XIV, who was on the throne of France for 72 years. Queen Elizabeth ruled for nearly 64 years.

Local Paper Hanger Can Now Take Care of His Work; Gives Ka-di-ok Credit for His Improved Condition.

After having suffered for two and a half years with stomach and kidney trouble, dosing all through that period, and being unable to successfully carry on his work as a paperhanger, Mr. George Ohlen, residing at 383 Lechner Avenue, Columbus, now declares that he has entirely recovered from his stomach ailment, and that his general condition has improved wonderfully, through taking Ka-di-ok.

In his signed statement, he says: "For about two and a half years I suffered almost constantly with my stomach. My back hurt me also. I was unable to eat, and what food I did put into my stomach caused me such misery that I almost dreaded to sit down to a dining table. During all this time I tried a number of remedies, and also was treated by doctors, but did not seem to show any improvement. Several weeks ago I read where a friend of mine, who was suffering from similar troubles to my own, had been relieved by taking Ka-di-ok, and I purchased a bottle and began taking it. Improvement in my condition was noticed in several days, and I have continued the treatment up to the present time. Today I can eat any kind of food my appetite craves and enjoy it to the fullest extent. The pains have entirely left my stomach, and I am no longer bothered with my kidneys. I am glad of this from the fact that I am a paper hanger by trade, and this is my busy season. I am able to work every day, where last year I could hardly get on a stepladder and labored under the most distressing conditions. This I tried the first time during the past three years that I have been able to take care of my work. Ka-di-ok can be obtained at Sayre & Hemphill's Drug Store, Xenia."

Today's Talk

Not until we have melted these conscious selves of ours into the deepness and darkness of silence are we ever revealed to ourselves.

At such a time, how the soul detaches itself—hunting its path into Eternity.

When we talk most life means the least. How we put off silence with the one we love most, or with the problem most pressing upon us. And yet not until we can touch silences are we able to fathom truth, beauty—God.

How beautiful is the silence of the flower, the stars, the velvety grass over which we walk so unthinking. When you feel like saying something that might hurt someone else—and don't—that silence is pure gold, and God's around just then anyway.

We think deepest and sincerest when we are in silence. Whenever we open our mouths to talk our very words struggle to play true. But even at their best expression, they melt away in beauty and genuineness under silence.

What a divine thing is this silence. How very often it is defiled by words.

You don't have to do any explaining if you breathe all that you are to your friend in silence. He will understand and return in kind.

The kingliness of Christ, always shone brightest after His long silences. Before the crucifixion, just lock at that picture of strength and beauty. There were rough men reviling Him as He walked with His Cross. They spat upon Him and told Him to save Himself. But "He answered them not a word." When the humble folk came to pay Him honor and to love Him, He didn't talk—He just gave them new life and happiness by leaping silent; and loving them through His look.

How poignant is the silence of parting with someone you love, or the silence of disappointment. But how wonderful is the silence of understanding.

Miss Littauer May Wed
Doeller Soon

Miss C.L. Littauer

Miss Catherine Louise Littauer, of New York, daughter of the multi-millionaire society man, Colonel W. E. Littauer, has returned from France, where she was much in the public eye, because her father asked for a Paris injunction to prevent her from marrying Robert E. Doeller, an Ohio automobile salesman. The courts refused to act on the grounds that, as an American, Miss Littauer was of legal age to wed. The parents then persuaded her to postpone the wedding, and it is believed she has returned to America to marry.

CHAUTAUQUA WILL APPEAR IN XENIA FROM JULY 15-21

Chautauqua vacation week is set for July 15 to 21, inclusive. The seven-day program to be given in Xenia will consist of morning, afternoon and evening programs by Red-path attractions.

Special emphasis will be placed on events of the opening day. The Grosjean Marimba-Xylophone Company and Granville Jones, of Arkansas, the "openers," calculated to establish program momentum for the week. On the second day Geoffrey O'Hara, noted song writer, will appear with assisting artists in a musical program, and Wallace Bruce Amsbury, literary genius, is to deliver two addresses that will include some of his delightful French-American poems. Chautauqua's third day brings William Dallas Campbell with a lecture demonstration on "Home Art," and the American comedy success, "Turn to the Right," with a large cast of New York players. The Zedeler Symphonic Quintet in a program of chamber music; Edward Tomlinson on "Immigration," and Huber W. Hurt of Chicago, on "The New Industrial Day," comprise the fourth day's program.

The Victor Band of New York City, under the direction of Signor Danza Lacerenza of Naples, will be featured in two concerts on chautauqua's fifth day. Honorable W. L. Harding, former governor of Iowa, is announced for the sixth night, alone with Joseph Baldi, accordionist. The sixth afternoon is billed as a special children's entertainment, with the Clemens Marionettes presenting "Jack and the Beanstalk." On the afternoon of the seventh day Dr. Frank L. Loveland of Topeka, Kansas, is to lecture, and in the evening the week's program will be concluded with a concert by the National Male Quartet, featuring Charles Cox comedian.

This season the Redpath management is supplying the largest number of chautauquas in its history. This city is one of 75 communities having the seven-day program. The circuit is to open June 11 in northeastern Ohio and will tour Ohio, West Virginia, Pennsylvania and Kentucky until late August.

Asparagus Loaf: Cook two bunches of asparagus, then cut the tips from the stalks. Take a pan which is three inches deep and which holds one quart, and butter it thickly; cover the bottom with paper and line the bottom and sides with the cooked asparagus tips. Now make a sauce as follows: Melt two tablespoons of butter in a saucepan, rub into it four tablespoons of flour, at the same time adding gradually one cup of sweet milk. When this paste has cooked until thick (about four minutes), add to it one-half cup of cooked veal (the left-overs from yesterday's veal cutlets will do), also one and one-half cups of cooked asparagus stalks cut small, and one teaspoon of salt. Pour this mixture onto four well-beaten eggs (off the range), then turn it into the pan which is lined with asparagus tips. Set the pan in a larger pan in which you have put about one inch of boiling water (that is, enough water to rise half way up the sides of the smaller pan). Bake in a slow oven until firm—about 35 minutes. During this baking period the water in the larger pan must not boil. Serve the loaf turned out onto a platter covered with a simple cream sauce to which you have added a few extra asparagus tips.

Jellied Apples: Mix together two cups of granulated sugar and two cups of boiling water; add to this six tart apples quartered, and turn the mixture into a baking dish. Bake in a hot oven until the apples are pink. At this stage, take the dish from the oven, lift out the apples, and put one and one-half teaspoons of granulated gelatine (softened with a half cup of cold water) into the hot apple juice; set the baking dish containing this mixture away to cool, and when partly cooled add to the apple juice the juice of one lemon and of one orange. At this point, too, a little pink vegetable coloring matter may be added if desired. Now place your baked apple quarters in a mould, turn this gelatine and fruit-juice mixture over them, and place all in a cold place to solidify. Serve with a custard sauce, or just as it is. To take gelatine from its mould easily, dip the mould up to its rim for a moment in boiling water; this melts the hardened gelatine slightly just where it rests against the inner surface of the mould—thereby loosening the mould's contents so that it can be slipped out onto a platter.

(Note: On Wednesday I will publish four more recipes for this week's menus.)

REDUCE NUMBER OF SUPERINTENDENTS IN GREENE COUNTY

In recognition of a number of petitions from the different rural organizations, from over the county, the Greene County Board of Education, at a meeting held Friday afternoon, reduced the number of assistant or district superintendents from three to two, retaining the two in the districts where petitions and requests had asked that they be placed. The action was taken in accordance with the policy of the County Board of Education to grant district supervision where the people request it, and not to impose the supervision where it is not desired, according to officials.

D. S. Lynn, superintendent of Bath and Beavercreek townships, and D. H. Barnes, of Xenia, Sugar Creek and Spring Valley townships, are the two superintendents in whose behalf the petitions have been circulated in the respective districts they have been serving, and have been re-employed for another year at the same salary.

Under the present provision of the law, it is said Superintendents Lynn and Barnes, may, however be re-qualified in other parts of the county, as school supervisors. The reduction of school supervisors, reduces the county board of Education's budget, $2,500, and is thought to result in the approval of the public since the requests for the reduction of supervision, was all seemingly born of a desire to reduce the school expenses as much as possible, officials say.

FLOOR CAVES IN.

Warren, O., April 30.—Twenty-five persons were hurt, three seriously, when the floor of the Methodist church at Hartsgrove, 25 miles northwest of here, caved in during high school commencement exercises. Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Grant and daughter Dorothy, 3, were the most seriously injured.

ARMISTICE IS IN EFFECT NOW ON WORLD COURT

Washington, April 30.—Senator Lodge's letter to Governor Hyde of Missouri has opened up an entirely new phase of the fight against the league court.

The senator's position is against the tribunal created and maintained by the league of nations. He would favor a court entirely separate from the league and in which the United States should have a hand in creating. Senator Lodge said:

"In the plan now before us the permanent court of international justice is not to be formed by the nations independently, but is to be the court already elected by the council and assembly of the league of nations, and this fact, as is already obvious, will lead to much discussion, and it will have to be decided whether the senate will assent to accepting the court as proposed and chosen by the league. What the attitude of the senate will be upon the question of joining a court elected by the council and assembly of the league of nations or upon certain specified conditions or reservations at present necessarily unknown; that is, the decision of the senate as to our participation in the league court or as to the form of the advice and consent to be given can not in the nature of things be determined at this time."

The president's advisers, it is reported, are trying to work out a substitute plan for a court absolutely separate from the league, with a system of electing judges independently of the league and having the tribunal sustained directly by the member nations.

Failure of the effort to have the American Society of International Law go on record in favor of the court proposal proved a disappointment to the administration, it is said. The discussion provoked by the resolution of endorsement was entirely unexpected.

President Harding in his address before the American Society of Newspaper Editors here, declared there was no truth in assertions that the administration had proposed American membership in the court at the behest of the international bankers. In making his denial the president referred to "a very earnest editorial" making such assertions which he said he had read within the last 48 hours. A similar charge was made several days ago in a statement on the world court made by Senator LaFollette.

A PURITAN WIFE

By Jane Phelps

CHAPTER LXXII

Doctor Grayson was soon bending over Hugh, his face pale as he examined his friend.

"He can't be moved," he said to Ann. "You'll get the bed ready."

Soon Hugh was in the little spare room, as comfortable as possible under the circumstances. He had not been conscious when the doctor came, and perhaps might not be for some time. Grayson had at once telephoned San Bernardino for a surgeon, and would stay with Hugh until he came.

Ann, whom the need for action had made calm and capable, as usual, went to and fro from the sick room, heartyhearted, sad. She had been very distant, very cool to poor Hugh since Grace's unkind remarks concerning his feeling for her, and she felt conscience-stricken. She did not believe Hugh cared for her except as a friend. It had been wrong in her to repulse him, to prevent his coming to see them in his quiet, social way because of anything that girl might say.

Ann telephoned Bessie, telling her Hugh had been injured, but also telling her not to come over as the doctor said he must have perfect quiet, and she and Nora could do all that was necessary.

"Don't tell Grace, and if she finds it out, don't let her come here. I won't have her," Ann had said, careless of what Bessie thought.

"I'll do all I can to keep her away, Ann. But you know how she is," Bessie answered, understanding and sympathizing with Ann.

The surgeon came. There was a slight operation on Hugh's head and he felt cautioning Grayson that his patient must not be excited in any way, must be kept perfectly quiet.

Dick came in before Grayson left, and seemed relieved that Ann was not alone. He neither looked at nor spoke to her, but questioned the doctor about Hugh, then took Jack on the porch to wait for dinner.

Ann saw at once he had been drinking, that he was in an ugly mood, and she, too, was silent. Neither mentioned his absence from luncheon, but Ann wondered if he had been away from the ranch to get the liquor or if he had taken the flask from the drawer when he left in the morning.

Hugh was very ill. For days his life was despaired of, and then he slowly began to mend. His grateful eyes followed Ann as she went about the room, making him comfortable, waiting upon him. She had refused to have a nurse, declaring she could do all necessary, and, in fact, there was no room for a nurse. Grace had, of course, learned that Hugh was with them, but Doctor Grayson had forbidden her to see his patient, so she kept away from the house. Ann knew she was often in the orchard with Dick, but was so busy and so needful of what rest she could get that she felt almost indifferent. Dick had remained cross and sulky. Then one day, when Ann was bending over Hugh, fixing his pillows, the grateful fellow caught her hand, and pressing his lips upon her palm, said: "Ann, darling, I never can repay you. You have saved my life. I loved you—don't turn away, dear. My love never would hurt you."

A sound caught Ann's attention. Looking up, she saw Dick framed in the doorway, white with anger. Quickly she moved away, and pushing him before her, closed the door behind them, then stood waiting. As always when intensely angry, Dick was inarticulate for a moment, and she took advantage of this to push on into the dining room.

"You—you—making a fuss if I speak to a woman, and having your lover right here in my house, making love to you before my eyes. Oh, it takes you quiet ones to deceive a man. I knew he and you weren't playing fair—knew it long ago. But like a fool, I shut my eyes. But they are open now. You'll never fool me again."

"I don't know what you mean, Dick. Poor Hugh is still very ill, has only been conscious a few days. It was his exaggerated sense of gratitude that made him express himself as he did."

"Don't lie to me. I heard as well as saw."

"Dick Belden, you have no right to say such things to me. You who have done nothing but make light of your vows for months. That Grace Edmunds has poisoned your mind. You know I couldn't—Ann almost gave way to tears, but her indignation at Dick's unjust accusations gave her strength. "It comes with poor taste from you, considering what you have done. If it were true you would be the one at fault, not me. But I—why, for my boy—for myself—you forget I am your wife."

"A faithless one," he declared and slammed out of the house. A moment afterward she heard the whirr of the engine, knew he was going away. Well, let him go. She would not stir a hand to hold him. He had insulted her beyond all forgiveness. Poor, loving Hugh. Of course, a love like his, unasking, unselfish, never hurt anyone. And it was not a lover's love, just that of a dear friend.

To Be Continued.

He has accepted the position of trial counsel in the office of Attorney General Crabbe, and had been waiting for the end of the legislative session to take up his duties in the state legal department.

SPECTRE OF ANARCHY
IN GERMANY FEARED
SEE MAY DAY RIOTS

Outbreak, Brewing for Some Time May Come to Head
In Anti-French Demonstration May 1—Signs of German Disintegration.

Violent May Day disorders are feared in Germany tomorrow. In the Ruhr the German workers are planning to make an anti-French demonstration. In Bavaria both the Fascist and Communist are planning parades in defiance of a government warning and a clash is feared.

The spectre of anarchy is casting ever darker shadows over Germany, while the danger of civil war has grown tremendously since the Ruhr was occupied by France. The German Ruhr frat is still solid—passive resistance continues, but under the surface storms are brewing. An explosion may come tomorrow or it may hold off until the impending exchange of notes between Germany and the allies comes to a head.

So serious are the symptoms of disintegration that many warning voices are making a last attempt to make themselves heard in such quarters abroad as may render eleventh hour assistance to Germany. Most of these voices are sounded secretly. Among them are the voices of Catholic Church leaders in Germany who visualize a tide of bolshevism rolling westward and making Central Europe the first bloody battleground in the supreme struggle for supremacy of the continent.

The fears of the Catholic churchmen have been intensified by the fact that the Orthodox church in conference at Moscow has adopted a resolution supporting the soviets and approving the maintenance of a big red army.

International News Service is able to reveal that Cardinal Schulte, archbishop of Cologne, went to Rome primarily to tell Pope XI of the red menace hanging over Germany. In an exclusive interview with International News Service just before his departure, Cardinal Schulte voiced his fears as follows:

"I have been an optimist for many years—even throughout the war. But I have lost hope. I have become a pessimist. I can foresee the blackest days ahead."

International News Service has reason to believe that Cardinal Faulhaber of Munich, who is now in the United States, shares the same view. This prelate may express them to President Harding.

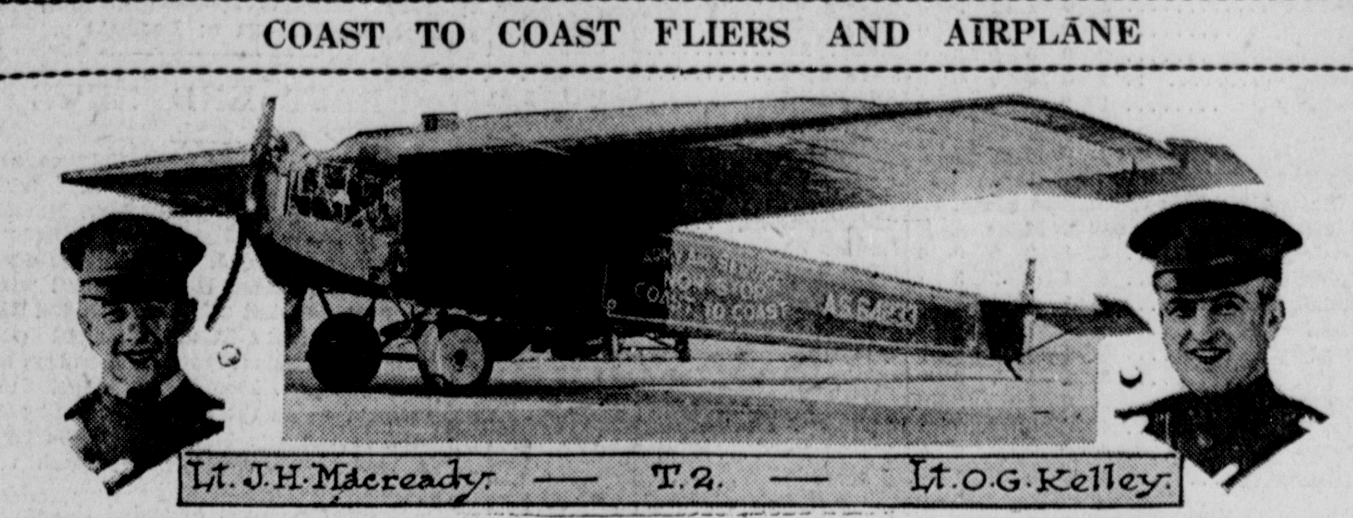

The position of Alanson B. Houghton, American ambassador to Germany, is too delicate to allow him to express his views, but it is understood he will advise President Harding and Secretary of State Hughes that serious internal dangers face Germany which may be summarized as "after Cuna, chaos."

When International News Service obtained its exclusive statement from Cardinal Schulte on April 12, it could not be printed because the prelate feared it might prejudice the independent investigation of Ruhr conditions which Monsignor Testa was making for Pope Pius XI. But Monsignor Testa has completed his task and today the Cardinal's views can be set forth.

"The red tide is rolling forward slowly but relentlessly," said this eminent cleric as he sat in his studio at Cologne. "I see terrible days ahead."

"The event of the past few years—especially of this year—have poured fuel upon the flames—there has been a terrible lot of explosive material. We are, in fact, sitting upon a powder barrel."

"The German masses are worn out by war and a farcical peace which has proved worse than war. France is supplying the most powerful argument for the communists. She is practicing in the Rhineland and Ruhr exactly what the communists have been preaching for years. She is undermining the principle of the sanctity of property rights. The French are ruthlessly seizing private property. Incidentally they are catering to the Reds. Indeed the French in Germany are placating the same class of people whom they would mow down with machine guns in the streets of Paris. This policy will have a terrible vengeance upon France. She will not be spared from the spread of horror she is deliberately unleashing upon Germany. They will roll westward."

Here is the T-2 airplane in which Lieutenant John H. MacReady and Lieutenant Oakley G. Kelley, of McCook Field, Dayton, Ohio intend to fly across the continent starting from Mitchell Field, New York. They already hold endurance and distance records.

STORM TAKES TOLL
OFF NEW ENGLAND

Boston, Mass., April 30.—A storm which for fifteen hours ravaged the New England coast took a toll of nine lives and wrecked at least seven vessels, it was apparent today.

Seven members of the crew of the Boston steam collier Seaconnet were lost when that vessel foundered a mile from the Vineyard Sound light ship. Twenty-two other persons aboard, including the wife of the wireless operator, reached the lightship in lifeboats.

The negro cook of the rum laden British steam yacht Thelma Phoebe lost his life when he became panic stricken and leaped overboard with a mattress as the vessel struck on Fisher's Island, Vineyard Sound.

The other members of the crew were taken off by the coast guard. The vessel is rapidly going to pieces and considerable of her wet cargo is being carried ashore by the sea.

Captain George Gardner, of the coal barge Bradnock, went down with that vessel when she went on the rocks at Point Judith. Other members of the crew were rescued.

The other vessels wrecked were the schooner Francis Goodnow, of Boston, wrecked on McKenny's Point, Cape Elizabeth, Maine, the coal barge Ephart of Philadelphia, wrecked off Popham Beach, Me., the coal barge of Fall River, wrecked at Point Judith, and the coal barge Canton also of Fall River, wrecked off Point Judith. The crews of the latter vessels were taken off safely.

TEN MILLION DOLLAR
PLOT ALLEGED BY DRY
AGENTS IN CLEVELAND

Six Railroad Employees Under Arrest—Scores of Others
Expected To Be Caught In the Net of the Law.

Cleveland, April 30.—With six railroad employees under arrest here and in Columbus today, and arrests of scores of others expected shortly, federal and state prohibition agents claimed to have in their hands almost complete details of $10,000,000 rum running conspiracy to bring imported Scotch and other whiskeys into Ohio. Deputy Prohibition Commissioner Frank S. Evans, who arrived in Columbus yesterday to take charge of the investigation, said that possibly 100 persons would be linked up in the conspiracy.

First news of the plot came with the seizure here of 524 quarts of imported Scotch whiskey late Saturday afternoon, as it was being unloaded from a "Florida special" at the East 55th street Pennsylvania station. The booze was contained in sixteen unmarked suitcases. A second seizure of 446 quarts was made in Columbus early yesterday morning. At the same time, two train porters, Richard Suter and Luther Boddie, were arrested. Ernest Downey, station master; George Reed, baggage master; James Hines and Harry Burns, porters, were under arrest here while warrants had been issued for the apprehension of a brakeman and conductor on a Pennsylvania train.

Sea of Booze

According to Evans a sea of booze estimated at 50,000 quarts daily has been coming into Ohio from Havana. He said he believed the total would reach a million quarts, value at $10 a quart.

Possible confiscation of railroad rolling stock used in transporting the liquor was under consideration but definite action today had not been determined in this particular. Railroad officials were co-operating with federal and state officials in running down those guilty.

Cincinnati, April 30.—Activities of prohibition enforcement agents against alleged liquor smugglers among railroad employees entering Ohio in through sleeping cars from Florida resorts have been extended to Cincinnati following arrests in Cleveland.

"The Southland," arriving late last night on the Louisville and Nashville railroad, was delayed on the line's Ohio river bridge, while state agents searched the train. No liquor was found.

NO SPECIFIC CHARGE
AGAINST CULT LEADER

Michigan Attorney General Declares Authorities Have No Warrant for Purnell Who is Thought To Be Under Arrest.

Marysville, O., April 30.—Pending arrival this afternoon of Michigan officials a man, suspected of being "King" Benjamin Purnell, head of the House of David religious cult colony, Benton Harbor, Michigan, is being held in the county jail here.

The prisoner, who refuses to talk or say who he is, tallies closely to the description of "King" Benjamin, local officials declared. He is five feet six inches tall, weighs about 163 pounds, has a long beard and appears to be very intelligent. He came here about two months ago in an auto bearing a Kentucky license and has been making a living by sharpening razors, scissors and knives. He had been sleeping at night in his machine which was parked alongside the state armory here. He is of a very quiet disposition and has made very few acquaintances here.

Promptly upon his arrest here Sunday, Grand Rapids, Michigan authorities were notified. The prisoner refused to give his name. When asked whether he is Purnell he replied that he is "just a man" and that he is "not the man the authorities want," although admitting that he had been a member of the House of David Colony.

OHIO LEGISLATURE
ACCEPTS THE BRYAN
TRACT OVER VETO

Action of the State Legislature Saturday in accepting the John Bryan farm bequest for the state, over the veto of Governor A. V. Donahey, ends a controversy that has involved the Legislature, and three Governors.

Both branches of the Legislature voted to override the veto and accept the tract of 500 acres, which was bequeathed to the state as a state game preserve and forestry Saturday night. The vote of the House of Representatives was 93 for and 27 against passage of the bill and the vote of the Senate was 28 for and two against.

The farm was left to the state under the provisions of the Will of John Bryan, eccentric millionaire, who made his home on the farm. The clause in the will prescribed that the property should be used as a game preserve and forestry tract under the condition that no religious services ever be held on the property. Because of that peculiar provision of the will, Governor Cox and Davis turned the bequest down.

Members of the Greene County Fish and Game Protective Association, headed by L. F. Clevenger, former president and supplemented by various Clark County organizations, made a campaign to have the property accepted. When their efforts to have Governor Davis accept the property failed, the State Legislature took the proposition and agreed to accept the bequest. Governor Donahey vetoed the measure, but action of the Legislature in passing it over his veto brings the controversy to an end.

The will provided that should the tract be turned down by the State that it should accrue to Greene County and County Commissioners considered acceptance or refusal of the bequest for some time, before it was finally acted upon by the State. It is expected that the State will use the tillable part of the 500-acre tract as an agricultural experimental station similar to the station at Wooster.

The glens and heavily wooded section are adaptable for the purpose to which it will be put according to the provisions of the will. It is expected that the State Fish and Game Department will not only establish a game preserve on the land but will also construct a fish hatchery there.

The state controlled operations are expected to make the Bryan farm a mecca of Ohio sportsmen as well as a center of agricultural experimental work in the section of the state. The grounds will be open to the public as long as no religious service is held there.

ARMISTICE DECLARED
IN WORLD COURT ISSUE

Controversy Within Republican Party Settles Down to Stage of "Watchful Waiting" By Both Sides
In the Dispute

Washington, April 30.—The controversy within the Republican party over the international court issue, apparently settled down today to a stage of "watchful waiting" by both sides.

President Harding, it was said by his friends, is content to let the matter rest as it is for the present. He has unreservedly placed himself and his administration behind the court, and he is confident that time will remove many of the barriers to American membership that now loom so menacingly ahead. Mr. Harding believes that speeches feed the fires of controversy and that time heals more party splits than statements and addresses.

The anti-court element within the party drawing its strength not only from the irreconcilables but also from the regular school of G. O. P. thought likewise is content to let things drift for a while, it appeared today.

Senator Henry Cabot Lodge's letter to Governor Hyde of Missouri, in which he declined to endorse the court and indicated that the Senate will write its own reservations is construed in Republican circles as a reply to the President's court speech of last week. The anti court faction is willing to stand for the present on the Lodge letter and let future developments mold the character of the program.

While the Republicans are apparently content to put the "so-called" on the court issue for the present, the Democratic policy directors have no such idea. A Republican split, they feel has dropped into their laps and they intend making the most of it.

This was disclosed today by the weekly news release from the Democratic national committee which contained the startling prediction that President Harding will be defeated for re-nomination next summer if he does not withdraw his candidacy.

AIRPLANE IS NOT SECURE FROM FIRE
FROM THE GROUND

Washington, April 30.—Startling statements of the progress and deficiencies in warfare were revealed here in a review of the maneuvers of 1922, made public by the war department.

Among the most important is that the airplane is no longer secure from attack from the ground. A system of conducting anti-aircraft artillery fire with accuracy has been developed. This was worked out by having airplanes tow targets as they hurtled through space at 100 miles an hour. The targets were fired upon with a barrage and a satisfactory number of hits scored, without in any way endangering the pilot or his plane. The same experiment revealed the fact that airplanes can not now set up an effective smoke screen, except in favorable weather conditions.

In the joint operation of planes with coast artillery, it was learned that communication from plane to shore for the purpose of "spotting" for the shore guns is uncertain. If the visibility is fair and two-way radio communication between the batteries and planes can be maintained hostile ships may be hit with ease. However, if more than six planes are engaged in the spotting, employing more than six radio stations on shore the interference is excessive.

SUGAR PRICES ARE

Attorney General Announces Move to Obtain
An Injunction

New York, April 30.—Sugar prices went under fire from two directions today. Officially the government through the attorney general, was to move this afternoon for an injunction against the New York Sugar exchange, which it charged with artificially fixing prices through a conspiracy of its members.

Unofficially the women of the metropolis, marshalling four-minute speakers and workers for a house-to-house canvass of the five boroughs began their campaign to limit the use of sugar and thus force down the price.

Four federal judges will hear the governments motion for an injunction against the sugar exchange.

William Mason Smith, attorney for the exchange, stated today he would ask for a continuance on the ground that John W. Davis, former ambassador to Great Britain, who was retained by the exchange as chief counsel, in the suit was in Washington arguing a case before the Supreme Court.

PLANE IN FLIGHT
ACROSS U. S. LAND
IN WASHINGTON

Washington, April 30.—Three of the four big Martin bombing planes, which left San Diego, California, last Thursday for an experimental flight across the continent, landed at Bolling Field near here at 11:04 o'clock this morning.

The planes were piloted by marine aviators, and they were greeted by Secretary of the Navy Denby, Major General John A. Lejeune, commandant of the Marine Corps, and other naval officials, including representatives of the Japanese embassy.

GOVERNMENT SEEKS TO DISSOLVE TRUST

Washington, April 30.—The government today began legal action to dissolve the alleged lumber trust.

A suit in equity against the Western Pine Manufacturers' Association, was filed on behalf of the government in the United States district court at St. Paul. Approximately 60 corporations and 86 individuals, officers in numerous lumber concerns were named as defendants.

EMERSON HOUGH IS DEAD IN CHICAGO

Chicago, April 30.—Emerson Hough, novelist and author for thirty years of popular works died in a hospital here today.

An operation was performed last night in an effort to relieve him of a chronic intestinal malady which attacked him afresh last Thursday.

Hough's most recent work, that greatly heightened his popularity was "The Covered Wagon," adapted only lately to motion pictures.

WAR THREATENS
BETWEEN TURKS
AND THE FRENCH

Hostilities Along Syrian
Frontier May Break
Out Shortly.

Paris, April 30.—Hostilities between the Turks and French were threatened today along the Syrian frontier. Both sides are concentrating troops in that zone.

Following a conference among General Pelle, French high commissioner at Constantinople, and head of the French delegation in the Near East peace conference at Lausanne; General Waydant, chief of staff to Marshal Poch, President Milderand of France, and P. L. Poincare, announcement was made that the government decided to send two additional colonies divisions to Syria.

There are already 26,000 French troops in Syria.

General Pelle reported he had received advices from Beyrut that the Turks were massing troops along the Syrian border and that the attitude of Turkey was most threatening.

General Waydant, who was recently appointed French high commissioner to Syria will leave Friday evening on the cruiser Lorraine to take up his new duties.

Turkey demanded that the French evacuate Syria. The French refused, maintaining they were entitled by their league of nations mandate to hold and administer the region. It is understood the differences over Syria was one of the reasons that Ankara gave rich concessions to the American Chester group of exploiters.

URGE REFERENDUM ON TAFT TAX LAW

Columbus, April 30.—John F. McCrehan, Columbus, president of the Ohio State Board of Real Estate Men has announced that he will call a meeting of the board to consider the advisability of a referendum on the Taft tax law, passed over Governor Donahey's veto by the Legislature.

If the board decided to put the question up to the people, circulation of petitions will be started at once, McCrehan said. If no referendum is held the law will go into effect in 90 days. If a referendum is held, it cannot become a law until after the next election and then only in the event it receive a majority of the votes cast in the state.

LOST CHILDREN ARE LOCATED NEAR HOME

Cincinnati, O., April 30.—A search that was aided by police of Covington and Newport, Ky., and Cincinnati was ended yesterday when Joseph Schneider, 12 years old, and his sister Anna Marie, eight, were found near their home, 209 West Fifth street, Newport, whence they had been missing since Friday noon.

The children had been hiding in an unfinished house without food or water for forty hours because they were afraid to go home after playing truant. They appeared to have suffered little from their adventure.

PURCHASE XENIA SEMINARY-TO GIVE IT AS MEMORIAL

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Steele have recently purchased the property of the Xenia Theological Seminary on West Third Street. It is their purpose to present this property to The Hooven and Allison Company as a permanent memorial to their son, the late John D. Steele, Jr., to be used in welfare work of the Company, along lines, the exact nature of which has not yet been fully determined.

Announcement of the purchase was made Monday and the presentation will be made to the board of directors of the company either this week or next. The property is destined for use by the welfare department of the company. In memory of the young official of the firm whose death occurred last year.

Mr. Steele, Jr., was vice president and assistant general manager of the Hooven and Allison Company at the time of his death. During his official connection with the company, he was particularly interested in the welfare of employees, and was instrumental in bringing about many factory reforms and welfare institutions that are now functioning.

Although definite plans for the use of the seminary buildings, and the considerable real estate that goes with them, has not been announced, it is expected that the memory of the departed official will be perpetuated in lasting use of the property to carry out many of the welfare movements he had hoped to bring about. These plans will probably not be outlined until formal presentation of the property by Mr. and Mrs. Steele to the directors of the company.

The buildings were abandoned for their original use when the Xenia Theological Seminary moved to St. Louis, Mo., several years ago. The property includes real estate extending from Third Street to the Shawnee creek in the rear and from King Street almost to the West Street intersection. Two buildings face Third Street. One was used as a chapel and school room and is of practically modern construction, not having been in use long before the Seminary was moved. The older building is a large, brick structure, used as a dormitory by Seminary students.

Since the removal of the Seminary the property has been for sale, and several uses for it were advanced during the last several years, including its possible use for Xenia City or Xenia Township school purposes. None of these plans carried and, with the exception of the occupancy of apartments in the dormitory building by families, the buildings were unoccupied at the time of the sale to Mr. and Mrs. Steele.

Announcement of the purchase of the property and the plans of Mr. and Mrs. Steele for perpetuating the memory of their son with the company with which he was so prominently identified, were made Saturday to executives of the company here, and the formal presentation will take place later.

ANTIOCH DEFEATS WITTENBERG NINE

BAYLIFFS SHUTOUT BY ATHLETICS IN SEASON'S OPENER

FAIRBORN INDIANS WIN OPENER

BAYLIFFS DROP OPENER

By WONES

An absence of the proverbial pinch hit as well as the base hit, brought about downfall of the Xenia Bayliffs, at the Washington Street Park Sunday afternoon in the opening contest of the season the Springfield Athletics scoring a 8 to 0 victory at the expense of the local nine.

The locals must have disposed of all the hits they had in their game with the Dayton Athletics last Sunday, because they were lacking in attack against the Springfield bunch. The Reaper City crew hit at the right time and the hits they got were not wasted, generally bringing about the desired result.

Griffith started on the mound for the Bayliffs, but the visitors gave him such a warm reception that he retired in favor of McDonnell in the first part of the fourth. The Athletics easily solved the offerings of Griffith. In the first inning the Clark county lads scored five runs and drove out two doubles and four singles off of Griffith.

Cozier first man up singled over second base, Foley singled to left, Cozier going to second, Schank singled to right and Cozier scored while Foley went to third. Kinsler fanned and Snyder doubled down the third base line, Foley and Schank scoring. Ervin singled to center, Snyder scoring. Hauffman doubled to center and Ervin scored while "Stony" Fuller dropped ball after he had once picked it up Kauffman going to third on the error. Haley fanned and Bain got Kauffman soming home for the third out. In the second and third rounds Griffith got by very well but in the fourth inning the Athletics found him once more and knicked him for three hits and one run. McDonnell was then sent into the box and for the remainder of the game "Willie" pitched a nice brand of ball fanning four while he left the visitors down with five hits and two runs and did not issue a single base on balls.

Stillman who pitched for the Athletics twirled a fine game. This lad is a south-paw. The locals only got six hits off of him while he fanned seven. The Bayliffs had several good chances to score but they just could not make the best of their opportunities. In the sixth with the bases full and two out Randall popped to Foley for the third out, in the eighth with Bain on third and Tucker on second and two out Schwab hit an easy grounder to Stillings who threw Schwab out at the initial sack. In the ninth Stiles went in as a pinch hitter and did succeed in getting to second by Kauffman's wild peg to first. Starkey then batted for Bowyer but he could not solve the benders of the south-paw who sent Starkey to the bench.

The Athletics played airtight ball behind Stillings and only made two errors in the entire contest while the locals played fair ball in the field making three errors. One of them helping the visitors to score a run.

On next Sunday the Bayliffs will play Bowersville at the Washington Street Park.

Seven errors were costly to the Wittenberg aggregation, Hummon at first base against being particularly offensive in the matter of mistakes, with four to his credit. Antioch started off with a rush by hanging six runs in the initial stanza, and repeating for one each in the next two innings. The Yellow Springs team concluded its scoring with one more run in the fifth and six more in the eighth icing the contest.

Treleven pitched well for Antioch, letting down at times because of the lead his team mates had piled up for him.

MUSIC WINNERS COMPETE SATURDAY IN MEMORY TEST

As the result of a last-minute ruling of the contest judges, from the various parts of the state, only three from each of the two groups entered from Greene County in the State Music Memory Contest at Columbus Saturday, were allowed to enter the contest officially. The remainder of the pupils were entered unofficially and not eligible to prizes.

In the Xenia team, Martha Peters of Lincoln School continued longest in the race, having a perfect paper until the third test, when she missed one number.

In the Greene County elementary team, Gladys Jones of Xenia Township continued longest in the testing, carrying a perfect score in each of the eight tests, finally winning the prize of a choice of fifty dollar instrument for which a number of counties were contestants.

Forty-eight counties were represented in the contest, the first of its kind ever held in Ohio, Saturday afternoon at Columbus Memorial Hall. A number of retests had to be given before a decision could be reached as to the prize winners. In the first contest held, there were nearly 100 perfect papers resulting in a decision to hold further contests until eliminations were made.

First instructions came that the three highest from the city schools should represent the city, later that the three highest from one building should represent the city. Permission was later granted by the State department for Xenia to enter two teams of three, one from Lincoln and one from McKinley Building, as each had perfect scores at the county contest. Permission was granted at the Columbus contest, Saturday morning, also that a team of four, two from Spring Valley township and two from Xenia township should represent the Greene County elementary schools, since these two teams tied in the contest.

A feature of the entire state contest was the presence of little Miss Margaret Hill, four-year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Hill of New Burlington who astounded prominent musicians from over the state with her knowledge of the names of the compositions entered in the contest. She is also a proficient whistler.

Her entrance into the contest was outside of the school teams, and no prize was awarded for her ability.

Styles BY LENORE

One of the most effective suits shown this season is a compromise between a sports costume and a tailleur. It is made of beige colored cloth in a new weave called Juina, which is as soft as a kitten's ear and resembles suede cloth, except that the nap is more wooly. The coat is slightly flared, and the narrow waistline collar is divided into beige and green velvet, the ends extending the length of the coat, as indicated in the sketch. The same idea is used on the sleeves. Black, green and a suggestion of gilt embroidery accentuates the gracefully shaped pockets, and all the buttons, which are about one and a half inches in diameter, are made of the beige cloth, with centers of green and black and gold stitching.

Black silk poplin is used for the frock sketched on the smaller figure. Collar and cuffs are of orandie, bound with beige braid.

IS AWARDED HONOR

Isadore M. Hyman, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Hyman, of East Market Street, who is a junior in the college of commerce and journalism at Ohio State University, has been honored by selection to membership in Sigma Delta Chi, honorary professional journalistic fraternity.

Three juniors and six sophomores were elected to membership in the organization, and the juniors will be initiated this spring while the sophomores will be initiated next fall.

FINED IN COURT.

Homer Toner, 28, of South Galloway Street, was fined $10 and costs by Police Judge E. Dawson Smith Monday morning when he was arraigned on a charge of drunkenness. Toner was arrested Sunday morning by Patrolman James Sowards, at Second and Galloway Streets.

PIONEER BAREFOOT BOY MAKE APPEARANCE HERE

Signs of Spring are just like all other signs—nobody ever believes them.

But when a small boy, doffs his shoes and stockings and saunters out in his bare feet for the first time, it is generally recognized that the robins and buds may be only fooling, but that spring has actually arrived.

The pioneer barefoot boy paddled his way along Detroit street in the rain Saturday morning. He said his feet were not cold, and that will probably be a signal for a universal shedding of shoes and stockings among small boys.

STOCK SUBSCRIPTION IN PROPOSED PRESS INDUSTRY RAISED

With the swinging of considerable financial assistance to the front at the last minute Saturday, what practically amounts to assurance that a company to manufacture an entirely new type of printing press will locate in Xenia was given, it was announced Monday by backers of the plan.

A campaign promoted by C. R. Hinkle, Dayton, formerly of this city, to sell $100,000 worth of stock in the new company in this city, came to an end Saturday evening when the 30-day option allowed Mr. Hinkle expired. At that time although the stock subscription amounted to $65,000 Xenia men interested in the project guaranteed enough other stock to make the entire amount subscription, it is said.

Signing of the agreement whereby stockholders of The Omnigraph Company, Des Moines, Iowa, present holders of the company turn over the concern to the Xenia interests, is the final step that will bring the factory to this city. E. E. Starn, inventor of the rotograph which has been manufactured by The Omnigraph Company, armed with the signatures of the local men, went to Des Moines immediately.

A meeting of the Iowa stockholders will be held Wednesday at which time it is expected by interested Xenians that the articles will be signed, according to a previous agreement made by the interests there. Providing the Iowa interests to the arrangement, Xenia stockholders will immediately apply for incorporation papers under the laws of the State of Ohio, in the sum of $500,000 it is understood. The organization to be effected after the charter has been granted will include only Xenia and Greene stockholders with the exception of Mr. Starn, who will be included as an officer and director of the new organization, Mr. Hinkle said Monday.

Property of the Miami Cereal Company, including factory buildings which formerly housed the Eavey Packing Company on Washington Street, has been included in the stock subscription and the transfer to the new company has already been made. It is the intention of the press manufacturer to occupy these buildings, using the main factory building for the actual manufacture and the other buildings for storage, part of which will be used for paper. The press prints from rolls of paper instead of from cut paper, and the company has to handle its own paper in order to supply users of the press.

O. E. BRADFUTE TO ADDRESS MEETING

Mr. O. E. Bradfute, President of the National Farm Bureau Federation, and daughter, Miss Helen Bradfute, left Monday for Washington, D. C. where Mr. Bradfute will attend a meeting of the committee appointed by the National Chamber of Commerce to represent agriculture. A number of sub-committees have been making surveys of transportation from the viewpoint of the farmers, and will give their reports at this meeting. Mr. Bradfute is scheduled to give a talk before the National Chamber of Commerce at New York, May 10, his subject to be "The Farmer's Interest in Transportation." Mr. Bradfute will return home after a visit of four or five days in Washington.

THE LINCOLN HIGHWAY—UTAH SEEKS TO DISRUPT THE ROUTE.

The fate of the Lincoln Highway as a great transcontinental route linking New York with San Francisco is right now trembling in the balance. The vital question of whether or not the road shall be built west of Salt Lake City, Utah has at last reached the ultimate authority—the Secretary of Agriculture at Washington, who is empowered by Congress to correlate interstate highways.

The Lincoln Highway Association, with Headquarters here, which laid out the route in 1913, before the existence of a Federal authority and before there were State Highway Departments in most of the western states, has spent $950,000.00 in ten years in the promotion and development of the great transcontinental memorial highway. The road has become the most important and most heavily traveled interstate thoroughfare of its length in the union and has reached a high degree of improvement from New York City to Salt Lake City, a distance of 2,450 miles. The improvement of the road and its strategic location have brought to it such a tremendous traffic that it is becoming a highly important business factor in every community through which it leads.

Utah's objection to providing a proper western outlet is based on the obvious desire to make Salt Lake City the division point for that vast volume of through traffic headed for southern California, which if the Lincoln Highway is abandoned and allowed to become impassable in western Utah must necessarily turn south at Salt Lake City.

Until Secretary Wallace pronounces his decision in the matter the continuity of the Lincoln Way as a direct connection from Manhattan to the Golden Gate is threatened.

WOMAN SUFFRAGE AND POLITICS.

There is disclosed, in the clearing light restored as the smoke of the battle for equal suffrage in the United States thins and vanishes in the horizon, an interesting, entertaining and instructive chapter in human history. Upon its pages there has been written by pens sympathetically guided what is really an inspiring record of the success of the movement for equal suffrage in a land where a cardinal tenet of government is declared to be the recognition of full human equality. In the book, "Woman Suffrage and Politics," there has been arrayed, not spectacularly, but soberly and studiously, by those who ascribe to themselves neither special credit nor undue measure of accomplishment, the chronological record of the years during which brave and unselfish American women worked unceasingly and untiringly for the recognition, by their brothers, husbands and fathers, of their right to participate as equals in governing themselves.

The authors of the book, Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt and Mrs. Nettie Rogers Shuler, have long been prominently identified with the suffrage cause. They announce in the volume (just issued by Scribners) that their object is not to write a history of the campaign for woman suffrage waged by American women, but to discover, by processes which have proved to be more or less analytical, the causes which, during all the crises through which the movement passed from the days of its inception until final victory was achieved by the adoption and ratification of the Nineteenth Amendment to the Constitution, have impeded or delayed it. It is interesting to note that the authors have refrained from whatever desire they might have had to engage in controversial arguments in behalf of the cause which they represent, and have confined themselves almost entirely to a presentation of facts so patent that the answer they seek must be found by even the casual reader.

MINORITY RULE OF THE SUPREME COURT.

Naturally politicians out of harmony with the fundamentals of representative republican government as set forth in the American Constitution are hostile to the Supreme Court which stands between legislative and executive power and the rights of persons and property guaranteed in our charter of freedom. Power is always hungry for more power; as much so now and here as in other times and lands.

The great men who framed our Constitution threw about the individual citizen of the republic a circle of protection of personal and property rights which no Congress or President—not even a popular majority—could invade. The Supreme Court was set up to repel attempted invasions within that sphere. Politicians greedy for more power for themselves, or catering to popular prejudice against restraints upon bodies of voters seeking to work their own selfish purposes even in violation of the Constitution, are more or less consciously impatient with the Supreme Court.

This dislike of constitutional restraint finds especially free expression when the nation's highest judicial body declares unconstitutional an act of Congress. The recent decision by the Supreme Court that the District of Columbia's minimum wage law represents an unwarranted legislative assumption of authority has called forth protests ranging all the way from mild criticism to violent denunciation by people who have more anxiety to accomplish their immediate ends than to protect the foundations of our governmental structure.

It is complained that the Supreme Court occasionally decides a law unconstitutional by a majority of only one. There is no reason to believe that a minority of the court is wiser than the majority. If the foes of constitutional restraint upon Congress think they have reason to complain about majority decisions, what reason is there to believe that the believers in constitutional restraint would have more confidence in the findings of a minority? Minorities, despite the present drift toward minority control of government, are not necessarily more trustworthy than majorities, and when it comes to enforcing the federal Constitution's fundamental guarantees, most Americans would prefer majority to minority interpretation.

1903--Twenty Years Ago--1923

Wilberforce was visited today by one of the worst fires in the history of the institution, when property was swept away to the value of about ten thousand dollars, comprising eight cottages located on the west side of the campus. The origin of the fire is a mystery.

The Judicial convention, composed of delegates from Clinton, Greene, Montgomery and Warren counties, was held in this city today. Judge T. E. Scroggy was renominated for a second term upon the Common Pleas bench of this district.

Mr. John Bryan has purchased the property of the Methodist Home of the Aged at Yellow Springs and will more than likely erect a modern hotel on the site.

The sale of horses by W. B. Bryson yesterday was successful. 26 horses being sold and the proceeds of the sale amounting to more than $6,000. The roadsters averaged a little more than $200 apiece.

FATTENING THE SHOULDERS

There are so many possible ways of fattening thin shoulders that it seems a shame that any woman should go about always Puritanically clothed up to her chin. It is nice to show pretty white shoulders now and then, especially of late years when the evening gowns have been so very low cut, and afternoon gowns have the "boat shaped" neck line that demands nicely shaped throat and shoulders.

Or, even if you live so simply that you never dress up beyond a tailored suit, it's still nice to know that the shoulders are attractive, whether they show or not.

Here are some hints: At night bathe the skin with very hot water until it is red and the pores are open. Warm a little cocoa butter (holding the cake of it near a candle or lamp will soften it sufand rinse with cold, by this time the skin will have absorbed sufficient fat.

You must not neglect deep breathing and arm exercises.

E. H. M.—The formula for the creams will be mailed to you if you send a stamped addressed envelope.

Irene—A lotion for bleaching freckles is made by mixing together six drachms of lemon juice, ten ounces of hot water, one ounce of glycerine and two drachms of borax. Dissolve the acid and borax in the water and add the glycerine.

A dainty cosmetic may be made of this lotion if an ounce of red rose petals is included; in which case they should be infused for an hour and then strained through a sheer cloth. The essence is then added to the lotion.

Why? Pimple-Poison Goes When Red Blood-Cells Increase! S. S. S. Builds These Red-Blood-Cells.

You can be sure of this, nature has no substitute for red-blood-cells. Pimple-poison can't live in the red rivers of your blood as long as there are enough rich red-blood-cells in it. More red-blood-cells!

That is what you need when you see pimples starting at you in the mirror. Black-headed pimples are worse! Eczema is worse yet! You can try everything under the sun—you'll find only one answer, more cell-power in your blood! The tremendous results, produced by an increase in red-blood-cells is one of the A. B. C.'s of medical science. Red-cells mean clear-pure rich blood. They mean clear, ruddy, lovable complexions. They mean nerve power, because all your nerves are fed by your blood. They mean freedom forever from pimples, from the blackhead pest, from boils, from eczema and skin eruptions, from rheumatism, from indigestion, from all the ailments that are the result of poor blood. Red-blood-cells are the most important thing in the world to each of us. S. S. S. will build them for you. S. S. S. has been known since 1859 as one of the greatest blood-builders, blood-purifiers and system strengtheners ever produced. S. S. S. is sold at all drug stores in two sizes. Local Paper Hanger Can Now Take Care of His Work; Gives Ka-di-ok Credit for His Improved Condition.

After having suffered for two and a half years with stomach and kidney trouble, dooming all through that period, and being unable to successfully carry on his work as a paperhanger, Mr. George Ohlen, residing at 388 Lechner Avenue, Columbus, now declares that he has entirely recovered from his stomach ailment, and that his general condition has improved wonderfully, through taking Ka-di-ok.

In his signed statement, he says: "For about two and a half years I suffered almost constantly with my stomach. My back hurt me also, I was unable to eat, and what food I did put into my stomach caused me such misery that I almost dreaded to sit down to a dining table. During all this time I tried a number of remedies, and also was treated by doctors, but did not seem to show any improvement. Several weeks ago I read where a friend of mine, who was suffering from similar troubles to my own, had been relieved by taking Ka-di-ok, and I purchased a bottle and began taking it. Improvement in my condition was noticed in several days, and I have continued the treatment up to the present time. Today I can eat any kind of food my appetite craves and enjoy it to the fullest extent. The pains have entirely left my stomach, and I am no longer bothered with my kidneys. I am glad of this from the fact that I am a paper hanger by trade, and this is my busy season. I am able to work every day, where last year I could hardly get on a step ladder and labored under the most distressing conditions. This is the first time during the past three years that I have been able to take care of my work."

Ka-di-ok can be obtained at Sayre & Hamphill, Drug Store, Xenia.

Today's Talk

Not until we have melted these conscious selves of ours into the deepness and darkness of silence are we ever revealed to ourselves.

At such a time, how the soul detaches itself—hunting its path into Eternity.

When we talk most life moans the least. How we put off silence with the one we love most, or with the problem most pressing upon us. And yet not until we can touch silences are we able to fathom truth, beauty—God.

How beautiful is the silence of the flower, the stars, the velvety grass over which we walk so unthinking.

When you feel like saying something that might hurt someone else—and don't—that silence is pure gold, and God's around just then anyway.

We think deepest and sincerest when we are in silence.

Whenever we open our mouths to talk, our very words struggle to play true. But even at their best expression, they melt away in beauty and genuineness under silence.

What a divine thing is this silence! How very often it is defiled by words. You don't have to do any explaining if you breathe all that you are to your friend in silence. He will understand and return in kind.

The kingliness of Christ, always shone brightest after His long silences. Before the crucifixion, just look at that picture of strength and beauty. There were rough men reviling Him as He walked with His Cross. They spat upon Him and told Him to save Himself. But "He answered them not a word." When the humble folk came to pay Him honor and to love Him, He didn't talk—He just gave them new life and happiness by keeping silent; and loving them through His look.

How poignant is the silence of parting with someone you love, or the silence of disappointment. But how wonderful is the silence of understanding.

FIFTEEN BILLS ARE PASSED OVER VETO OF GOV. DONAHEY

Columbus, April 30.—The general assembly recessed until Dec. 31, 1924, after passing 15 of the 76 bills vetoed by Governor Donahey.

Taft, Albaugh and Robison bills, the three main taxation measures, were included in the bills enacted, as was also that part of the appropriation bill which cut more than $3,000,000 from state universities and normal schools and the $61,500 to pay coal dealers on contracts for coal furnished the state under the Davis administration. These contracts were held invalid by the courts. The $238,000 item for an addition to the Ohio Archaeological and Historical museum also was put through. Solons also passed the Gordon bill to increase the amount of fines that may be assessed against motion picture exhibitors and take away the prison sentence, thus giving magistrates final jurisdiction in such cases without jury trials.

Action by the legislature followed a series of conferences that covered the greater part of two days. When agreement finally had been reached on the bills to be passed, the measures rolled over the governor's vetoes with machine-like precision. Representative Robert C. Dunn, majority leader of the house, in a statement, characterized the governor's messages of disapproval as "office boy vetoes," and said they were "the most glaring example of abuse of the veto power ever known in Ohio's history." Democrats generally in both branches of the assembly voted to sustain the governor.

Bills Put Through.

Besides the tax bills, other measures passed over the governor's veto included these senate bills:

Creating a state judicial council to make a study of court rules and procedure.

Authorizing the sale of 18 acres of land at the Cleveland state hospital and using the proceeds for repairing hospital buildings.

Authorizing courts to parole on probation persons under suspended sentence and place them in charge of court constables as probation officers.

Placing appointment of the superintendent of the combined industrial and manual training departments of Wilberforce university under the state controlling board.

Authorizing the printing of appropriation acts separate from the volume of Ohio laws. Mr. Carpenter said this was an economy measure to save $20,000 to $40,000 for each session. Governor Donahey said it might prevent the public learning what appropriations are made if the secretary of state chooses not to publish appropriation acts or to limit the number of acts printed.

House bills passed include the following:

Accepting the John Bryan farm in Greene county for a state park. This has been rejected by three governors, former Governors Cox and Davis having refused it as well as Governor Donahey, all on grounds that a provision in the gift which says no religious services ever shall be held on grounds, makes it unconstitutional for the state to accept it.

Providing for a money penalty only for violations of the motion picture censor laws; making distributors as well as exhibitors amenable to the laws and giving justices of the peace final jurisdiction in such cases.

Barring a candidate defeated in the primaries from running as an independent after the primaries.

Authorizing county surveyors to make emergency road repairs without competitive bids when cost does not exceed $200.

Making it optional whether Ohio corporations begin their names with "The," as now required, and allowing use of the word "corporation," "incorporated" or "inc." at the end of the firm name.

Allowing county commissioners extra compensation for establishing county sewer districts.

Making appropriations for the next two years.

No attempt was made to pass over the governor's veto the Anti-Saloon league's bill to compel violators of the liquor laws to work out their fines on the roads and commit women violators to the Marysville reformatory, if unable to pay their fines.

Will Deport Larkin as Undesirable

Jim Larkin, I. R. A.

"Big Jim" Larkin, Irish labor leader and radical, who was recently pardoned from the Sing Sing (New York) State's Prison by Governor Smith, after being convicted of criminal anarchy, has been surrendered to the Department of Immigration, Ellis Island, New York Harbor, for deportation as an undesirable alien. Only a stay in the Federal Court could prevent his being sent back to Europe.

BOND ISSUE TO BE PAID BY OHIO

Columbus, April 30.—The state department of securities anticipates another influx of applications from wild-cat promoters to sell stock in Ohio next month, when another issue of liberty bonds are due to be paid. According to Norman E. Beck, head of the department, the securities department is being flooded with calls from people who invested in stocks the money received from the last liberty bonds redeemed and have neither received dividends nor been able to dispose of the stocks purchased. Nearly all these complaints blame the securities department for not making more thorough investigation of the companies offering the stock, he said, and invariably the investors say they bought the stocks because they had been assured stock could not be sold in Ohio until it had been approved by the securities department. In practically every instance, he said, investigation showed the buyer had purchased the stock without making any attempt to learn whether the company or the salesmen had obtained a certificate to sell stock.

Ohio Federation of Women's Clubs

By Mrs. George Elliott McCormick.

By Mrs. George Elliott McCormick, Marion.

One of the first federations in the United States to adopt the new plan of organization as outlined by the General Federation of Women's Clubs at the biennial in 1920 was that at Lima. In fact, the Lima federation complied with the General Federation organization program, with all the departments as now created, even before the Ohio State Federation of Women's Clubs reorganized for the purpose the various sains of state club work. Of course, the state problem of reorganization was a big one, but the instance serves to show the progressive club spirit in the Lima Federation.

Mrs. Beecher Moke, the retiring president of the Lima Federation, accomplished much during her term of office. The federation was reorganized under her guidance. Her administration marked the entrance into the city federation of 22 new clubs, making a total of 51 now making up the body. The Lima Federation is credited with raising approximately $10,500 through all lines of activity during the two years she was president. Other notable achievements in club work credited to Mrs. Moke's administration included established weekly classes in astronomy, purchased more than $1,200 worth of books for the public library, conducted "Tag" day and raising $250 for children's books, pledging $1,400 to the municipal community chest, raising $525 for the Boy Scouts, started a fund for a woman's club house, co-operated with picture-house owners for better films, arranged Fourth of July celebration in citizenship, work, put over Red Cross drive for $2,719, furnished improved waste cans for city streets, arranged for a representative meeting of civic organizations to hear state Americanization supervisor, furnished milk to undernourished children and supplied supervisors for the playgrounds and recreation centers, placed first woman on the Allen County Children's home board, provided speakers for Farmers Institute, compiled a history of the Lima federation, helped nine girls with a college education, engaged national health expert for a series of lectures, cooperated with the Y. W. C. A. in plan of sending one of the industrial girls to Bryn Mawr summer school for industrial workers and engaged actively in all movements looking to the better of the city.

Inaugrating a movement of tree conservation and remembrance, the Ohio club, one of the busy organizations of the Youngstown Federation, April 28 planted a tree for its retiring president, Mrs. Walter J. Sutton, who is also the founder of the Junior Ohio club, the members of which are the daughters of Ohio club members. The tree-planting ceremonies are to be made a future custom, it being planned to honor every retiring president of the club. A space for this purpose has been allotted in Wick park.

From all parts of the country, Mrs. Blanche H. Kellar, of the Woman's club, at Attica, is receiving letters congratulating her and through her club and asking her for more details concerning the planting of a mile row of memorial trees along the Scioto trail in memory of Edith Ayres of Attica, Red Cross nurse. She was the first American Red Cross nurse to die in the World War.

"Garden Thoughts" were broadcast by Mrs. W. W. Milar, of Akron the evening of April 24 from the Cleveland Trust company's station, W. J. A. X. Mrs. Milar is chairman of the division of conservation for the Ohio Federation and a live-wire club woman.

"Fine Arts" day will be Friday, May 25, at the state convention of the Ohio Federation of Women's Clubs at Steubenville. It will also be the closing day. Mrs. W. F. Alexander, Cincinnati, will mold a head and talk on sculpture as she molds. Mrs. R. C. Morris, of Toledo, chairman of literature for the Ohio Federation, will give her lecture on "Shakespeare." At noon, conference luncheons will be conducted. At the art luncheon Mrs. T. E. Clark, Columbus, chairman of the state federation art department will talk on "Harmony of Colors," illustrating it with slides. At 1:30 p. m., a musical program arranged by the Ohio Federation of Music Clubs will be given.

Don't let skin trouble unfit you for the days work

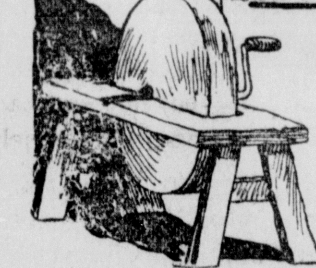

Eczema, ringworm, and other itching rashes seldom heal themselves, but Resinol Ointment does heal them and makes refreshing sleep possible for skin sufferers. One who has used this comforting, healing ointment writes—'Resinol Ointment is so soothing it stopped my itching at once and I got the first night's sleep I had had in weeks. Now my skin is well.' What it has done for one it can do for others. Why don't you try it? Resinol Soap and Resinol Shaving stick contain the same soothing ingredients which enable them to thoroughly cleanse the skin yet leave it free from sensitiveness and smarting.

Miss Littauer May Wed
Doeller Soon

Miss C. L. Littauer

Miss Catherine Louise Littauer, of
New York, daughter of the militair society man, Colonel W.
E. Littauer, has returned from France, where she was much in the public eye, because her father asked for a Paris injunction to prevent her from marrying Robert E. Doeller, an Ohio automobile salesman. The courts refused to act on the grounds that, as an American, Miss Littauer was of legal age to wed. The parents then persuaded her to postpone the wedding and it is believed she has returned to America to marry.

CHAUTAUQUA WILL APPEAR IN XENIA FROM JULY 15-21

Chautauqua vacation week is set for July 15 to 21, inclusive. The seven-day program to be given in Xenia will consist of morning, afternoon and evening programs by Redpath attractions.

Special emphasis will be placed on events of the opening day. The Grosjean Marimba-Xylophone Company and Granville Jones, of Arkansas, the "openers," calculated to establish program momentum for the week. On the second day Geoffrey O'Hara, noted song writer, will appear with assisting artists in a musical program, and Wallace Bruce Amsbury, literary genius, is to deliver two addresses that will include some of his delightful French-American poems. Chautauqua's third day brings William Dallas Campbell with a lecture demonstration on "Home Art," and the American comedy success, "Turn to the Right," with a large cast of New York players. The Zedeler Symphonic Quintet in a program of chamber music; Edward Tomlinson on "Immigration," and Huber W. Hurt of Chicago, on "The New Industrial Day," comprise the fourth day's program.

The Victor Band of New York City, under the direction of Signor Danza Lacenza of Naples, will be featured in two concerts on chautauqua's fifth day. Honorable W. L. Harding, former governor of Iowa, is announced for the sixth night, along with Joseph Baldi, accordionist. The sixth afternoon is billed as a special children's entertainment, with the Clemens Marionettes presenting "Jack and the Beanstalk." On the afternoon of the seventh day Dr. Frank L. Loveland of Topeka, Kansas, is to lecture, and in the evening the week's program will be concluded with a concert by the National Male Quartet, featuring Charles Cox comedian.

This season the Redpath management is supplying the largest number of chautauquas in its history. This city is one of 75 communities having the seven-day program. The circuit is to open June 11 in northeastern Ohio and will tour Ohio, West Virginia, Pennsylvania and Kentucky until late August.

Asparagus Loaf: Cook two bunches of asparagus, then cut the tips from the stalks. Take a pan which is three inches deep and which holds one quart, and butter it thickly; cover the bottom with paper and line the bottom and sides with the cooked asparagus tips. Now make a sauce as follows: Melt two tablespoons of butter in a saucepan, rub into it four tablespoons of flour, at the same time adding gradually one cup of sweet milk. When this paste has cooked until thick (about four minutes), add to it one-half cup of cooked veal (the left-overs from yesterday's veal cutlets will do), also one and one-half cups of cooked asparagus stalks cut small, and one teaspoon of salt. Pour this mixture on to four well-beaten eggs (off the range), then turn it into the pan which is lined with asparagus tips. Set the pan in a larger pan in which you have put about one inch of boiling water (that is, enough water to rise half way up the sides of the smaller pan). Bake in a slow oven until firm—about 35 minutes. During this baking period the water in the larger pan must not boil. Serve the loaf turned out onto a platter covered with a simple cream sauce to which you have added a few extra asparagus tips.

Jellied Apples: Mix together two cups of granulated sugar and two cups of boiling water; add to this six tart apples quartered, and turn the mixture into a baking dish. Bake in a hot oven until the apples are pink. At this stage, take the dish from the oven. Lift out the apples, and put one and one-half teaspoons of granulated gelatine (softened with a half cup of cold water) into the hot apple juice; set the baking dish containing this mixture away to cool, and when partly cooled add to the apple juice the juice of one lemon and of one orange. At this point, too, a little pink vegetable coloring matter may be added if desired. Now place your baked apple quarters in a mould, turn this gelatine and fruit-juice mixture over them, and place all in a cold place to solidify. Serve with a custard sauce.

or just as it is. To take gelatine from its mould easily, dip the mould up to its rim for a moment in boiling water; this melts the hardened gelatine slightly just where it rests against the inner surface of the mould—thereby loosening the mould's contents so that it can be slipped out onto a platter.

(Note: On Wednesday I will publish four more recipes for this week's menus.)

REDUCE NUMBER OF SUPERINTENDENTS IN GREENE COUNTY

In recognition of a number of petitions from the different rural organizations, from over the county, the Greene County Board of Education, at a meeting held Friday afternoon, reduced the number of assistant or district superintendents from three to two, retaining the two in the districts where petitions and requests had asked that they be placed. The action was taken in accordance with the policy of the County Board of Education to grant district supervision where the people request it, and not to impose the supervision where it is not desired, according to officials.

D. S. Lynn, superintendent of Bath and Beaver Creek townships, and L. H. Barnes, of Xenia, Sugar Creek and Spring Valley townships, are the two superintendents in whose behalf the petitions have been circulated in the respective districts they have been serving, and have been re-employed for another year at the same salary.

Under the present provision of the law, it is said Superintendents Lynn and Barnes, may, however be re-qualified in other parts of the county, as school heads.

The reduction of school supervisors, reduces the county board of Education's budget, $2,500, and is thought to result in the approval of the public since the requests for the reduction of supervision, was all seemingly born of a desire to reduce the school expenses as much as possible, officials say.

FLOOR CAVES IN.

Warren, O., April 30.—Twenty-five persons were hurt, three seriously, when the floor of the Methodist church at Hartsgrove, 25 miles northwest of here, caved in during high school commencement exercises. Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Grant and daughter Dorothy, 3, were the most seriously injured.

ARMISTICE IS IN EFFECT NOW ON WORLD COURT

Washington, April 30.—Senator Lodge's letter to Governor Hyde of Missouri has opened up an entirely new phase of the fight against the league court.

The senator's position is against the tribunal created and maintained by the league of nations. He would favor a court entirely separate from the league and in which the United States should have a hand in creating. Senator Lodge said:

"In the plan now before us the permanent court of international justice is not to be formed by the nations independently, but is to be the court already elected by the council and assembly of the league of nations, and this fact, as is already obvious, will lead to much discussion, and it will have to be decided whether the senate will assent to accepting the court as proposed and chosen by the league. What the attitude of the senate will be upon the question of joining a court elected by the council and assembly of the league of nations or upon certain specified conditions or reservations is at present necessarily unknown; that is, the decision of the senate as to our participation in the league court or as to the form of the advice and consent to be given can not in the nature of things be determined at this time."

The president's advisers, it is reported, are trying to work out a substitute plan for a court absolutely separate from the league, with a system of electing judges independently of the league and having the tribunal sustained directly by the member nations.

Failure of the effort to have the American Society of International Law go on record in favor of the court proposal proved a disappointment to the administration, it is said. The discussion provoked by the resolution of endorsement was entirely unexpected.

President Harding in his address before the American Society of Newspaper Editors here, declared there was no truth in assertions that the administration had proposed American membership in the court at the behest of the international bankers. In making his denial the president referred to "a very earnest editorial" making such assertions which he said he had read within the last 48 hours. A similar charge was made several days ago in a statement on the world court made by Senator LaFollette.

A PURITAN WIFE

CHAPTER LXXII

Doctor Grayson was soon bending over Hugh, his face pale as he examined his friend.

"He can't be moved," he said to Ann. "You'll get the bed ready."

Soon Hugh was in the little spare room, as comfortable as possible under the circumstances. He had not been conscious when the doctor came, and perhaps might not be for some time. Grayson had at once telephoned San Bernardino for a surgeon, and would stay with Hugh until he came.

Ann, whom the need for action had made calm and capable, as usual, went to and fro from the sick room, heavyhearted, sad. She had been very distant, very cool to poor Hugh since Grace's unkind remarks concerning his feeling for her, and she felt conscience-stricken. She did not believe Hugh cared for her except as a friend. It had been wrong in her to repulse him, to prevent his coming to see them in his quiet, social way because of anything that girl might say.

Ann telephoned Bessie, telling her Hugh had been injured, but also telling her not to come over, as the doctor said he must have perfect quiet, and she and Nora could do all that was necessary.

"Don't tell Grace, and if she finds it out, don't let her come here. I won't have her," Ann had said, carelessly of what Bessie thought.

"I'll do all I can to keep her away, Ann. But you know how she is," Bessie answered, understanding and sympathizing with Ann.

The surgeon came. There was a slight operation on Hugh's head and he felt cautioning Grayson that his patient must not be excited in any way, must be kept perfectly quiet.

Dick came in before Grayson left, and seemed relieved that Ann was not alone. He neither looked at nor spoke to her, but questioned the doctor about Hugh, then took Jack on the porch to wait for dinner.

Ann saw at once he had been drinking, that he was in an ugly mood, and she, too, was silent. Neither mentioned his absence from luncheon, but Ann wondered if he had been away from the ranch to get the liquor or if he had taken the flask from the drawer when he left in the morning.

Hugh was very ill. For days his life was despaired of, and then he slowly began to mend. His grateful eyes followed Ann as she went about the room, making him comfortable, waiting upon him. She had refused to have a nurse, declaring she could do all necessary, and, in fact, there was no room for a nurse. Grace had, of course, learned that Hugh was with them, but Doctor Grayson had forbidden her to see his patient, so she kept away from the house. Ann knew she was often in the orchard with Dick, but was so busy and so needful of what rest she could get that she felt almost indifferent. Dick had remained cross and sulky.

Then one day, when Ann was bending over Hugh, fixing his pillows, the grateful fellow caught her hand, and pressing his lips upon her palm, said:

"Ann, darling, I never can repay you. You have saved my life. I loved you—don't turn away, dear. My love never would harm you."

A sound caught Ann's attention. Looking up, she saw Dick framed in the doorway, white with anger. Quickly she moved away, and pushing him before her, closed the door behind them, then stood waiting. As always when intensely angry, Dick was inarticulate for a moment, and she took advantage of this to push on into the dining room.

"You—you—making a fuss if I speak to a woman, and having your lover right here in my house, making love to you before my eyes. Oh, it takes you quiet ones to deceive a man. I knew he and you weren't playing fair—knew it long ago. But like a fool, I shut my eyes. But they are open now. You'll never fool me again."

"I don't know what you mean, Dick. Poor Hugh is still very ill, has only been conscious a few days. It was his exaggerated sense of gratitude that made him express himself as he did."

"Don't lie to me. I heard as well as saw."

"Dick Belden, you have no right to say such things to me. You who have done nothing but make light of your vows for months. That Grace Edmunds has poisoned your mind. You know I couldn't—Ann almost gave way to tears, but her indignation at Dick's unjust accusations gave her strength. "It comes with poor taste from you, considering what you have done. If it were true you would be the one at fault, not me. But I—why, for my boy—for myself—you forget I am your wife."

"A faithless one," he declared and slammed out of the house. A moment afterward she heard the whirr of the engine, knew he was going away. Well, let him go. She would not stir a hand to hold him. He had insulted her beyond all forgiveness. Poor, loving Hugh. Of course, a love like his, unasking, unselfish, never hurt anyone. And it was not a lover's love, just that of a dear friend.
